Seek industries for Depot sites

The Tri-City Regional Port District called public attention to its proposed industrial buildings and sites at the former Granite City Army Depot during the pre-Thanksgiving luncheon meeting of the Granite City Board of Realtors on Wednesday.

Realtors were urged to assist in development of available facilities as a way of increasing Quad-City area economic and production activity.

A statement by the Port District related that "the Army has declared excess a portion of the Granite City Army Installation. We are in the process of acquiring the property for expansion of the Port's facilities. Both the land and building space are available for lease to new industries. The property and buildings to be leased provide an excellent location for industrial development. The warehouses can accommodate warehousing immediately, or be modified for manufacturing processes or a combination of the above."

Situated on the Chain of Rocks Canal near Locks 27 and the Port area of the canal, the Army base has been in active operation since the early 1940s but the scope of its mission has sharply decreased, permitting the southern portion to be made available for other public purposes.

The Port District hopes to utilize an area at the southeastern corner, extending westward about six-tenths of a mile and northward about two and a half miles.

At the southern end are Buildings 568 and 569, Site One and then, extending to the north, Sites 2 and 3 and Buildings 580, 308 and 307.

Buildings 568 and 569, near Second and Bissell streets, are of open-shed design and together have 150,000 square feet. They are 19 feet tall, constructed of steel framing, with concrete flooring and corrugated metal roofs.

Site One is 1,800x300 feet, with a total area of 12,576 acres; Two is 1,650x280, or 10,685 acres; and Three is 1,650x250, or 9,075 acres. They are near First and E streets within the Army Installation.

Nearby is Building 500, which has three 41,000-square-foot sections, a total of 122,800. Twenty four feet tall, the concrete block warehouse is equipped with fire doors and truck and rail loading docks. Floor load capacity is 300 pounds per square foot.

Buildings 307 and 308 between E, D, 3rd and 1st streets total 306,700 square feet. They have six separate sections of 51,202 square feet. Height of the brick

Kinder public defender

Attorney William F. Kinder of Granite City has been appointed public defender for Madison County, effective Dec. 1, it was announced Friday by Chief Circuit Judge Horace Calvo.

Kinder was selected by the circuit judges of the Third Judicial Circuit to fill the unexpired term of Public Defender Paul Reilly, whose resignation will be effective Friday afternoon.

"I am very happy to have this appointment and will try my best to continue the quality of service the public has and deserves from the public defender's office," Kinder told the Press-Record after the appointment was announced.

Kinder, 39, is a partner in the law firm of Kinder and Kinder of Granite City. His brother and partner, Norman Kinder, is president of the Madison County Bar Association, of which William Kinder is a former vice-president.

The newly-appointed public defender has practiced law in Madison and Granite City since 1966.

8-cent county tax hike

With a December 1979-November 1980 Madison County governmental budget of $31,866,143 adopted by the County Board on Wednesday, a hike of more than eight cents is expected in the tax rate for each $100 of assessed valuation, from 53.8 to 64.7 cents.

"We don't know what the final rate will be. The 64-cent figure is based on an estimate of what the county's assessment total will be," County Clerk Evelyn Bowles of Edwardsville related.

County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City attributed four cents of the rate increase to inflation, two cents to required changes in compensation benefit costs, and two cents to the state-mandated consolidation of elections.

Committees had sought to hold the line on spending and to force budget reductions of one per cent in most funds, but it was decided by a 17-7 margin to slightly ease the purse strings, including a $17,000 budget addition for the public defender's office to cope with the projected work volume.

Hope to complete campaign next week

By PAT FOLEY

With only one more report meeting of the fall 1979 Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign remaining, the outlook for success in attaining the three-quarters of a million dollars goal is still bright, according to Campaign Chairman George Knecht.

Knecht announced the total to date, at the third report meeting, held on Wednesday; the figure is $318,703.

This total represents 42½ percent of the fair-share objective for this year.

Plan greater environmental coordination

A coordinated permit review program for major new projects having a potential to significantly affect the state's environment has been adopted by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Directly involved in the program are major new projects requiring construction permits from the agency having an overlapping impact on the state's air, land and water (including public water supplies).

In the past, such projects required separate permits from each of the EPA's pollution control divisions and the permits were issued at different times.

531 on holiday list

"We already have 531 people we will help, but we are still taking applications for Christmas food and toy baskets," it was related today by Tree of Lights Campaign Chairman Earl Dotzauer and Salvation Army Captain Elmer Trapp.

"Applicants must bring proper identification and proof of their income to the Salvation Army Corps Community Center, 3607 E. 23rd St.

"The deadline for making an application is this Friday, Nov. 30. For

Last year, several business, union and civic groups petitioned Gov. Thompson to relax some of the steadily-tightening air pollution limits in the three-county region.

By law, such limits can be raised only in those areas which have not recorded violations of health and welfare air quality standards. Areas within the region with violations are not eligible for this reclassification. And an area cannot be reclassified if the increase in air pollution will aggravate an existing pollution problem.

Air pollution monitors and recent studies have shown that many violations have occurred in areas along the Mississippi River. However, the agency will conduct this new study to

Elizabeth I on Nov. 27

"Elizabeth I" will be performed Tuesday, Nov. 27, at 8:15 p.m. in the Communications Building theater at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The play was written by Paul Foster and will be performed by The Acting Company, a group of 16 professional actors and actresses. The company was formed in 1972 and has performed 35 plays in 165 cities, in 37 states, before more than 735,000 people. It has traveled over 75,000 miles.

"Elizabeth I" portrays the intrigue of Queen Elizabeth's 16th Century reign. The production focuses on a troupe of touring actors who bring the major events of Elizabeth's reign to life through their recreation of important characters in her life.

Throughout the play, the successes of both Elizabeth and the actors rise and fall as the action shifts from the execution of Mary Queen of Scots to the war with Spain. The tales of Elizabeth and the actors become interwoven.

The New York Times called the company "the finest repertory company in New York City," and its work has been compared to that of Britain's National Theater and Royal Shakespeare Company.

Consistency helps children to learn

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension Adviser, Home Economics

Children find it easier to learn when learning conditions are constant. Parents should remember that they cannot always be perfectly consistent from day to day or situation to situation.

Rules tend to enforce consistency. But as children grow, rules and how parents deal with those rules will change.

For children to learn the lessons of social life and feel secure while doing so, however, parents should try to be consistent in at least four ways:

- Parents should be consistent from situation to situation. Then children need not spend great energy figuring out what parents are going to do next.
- All benefits when both parents agree on a common set of rules and make uniform behavioral demands of children. Parents need to agree with each other about how to rear and discipline their children because disagreement confuses the children. To avoid confusion, resolve disagreements when children are absent.
- Commands should be consistent with parental examples. Children learn their values and beliefs more from examples set by adults than from verbal instructions.
- Children have trouble understanding inconsistency between verbal and non-verbal messages. As one little boy said to his mother, "Your mouth says you love me, but your eyes say you don't." When children receive mixed messages, words that tell one thing and non-verbal cues that suggest the opposite, they may become confused about which message to follow. Parents should be sure they aren't sending inconsistent messages.

Riverfront headquarters for Bi-State to be ready in '80

The Bi-State Development Agency Board of Commissioners on Wednesday awarded to Robert R. Wright Inc. a $4.4 million contract for renovation of Bi-State Transit's planned headquarters in Laclede's Landing.

Gerald A. Rimmel is board chairman, and the commissioners include Carl E. Mathias of Granite City. Renovation of the historic Christian Paper Tobacco complex at 715 N. 1st St. has received White House recognition as one of the first projects funded under the Urban Mass Transit Administration's new Urban Initiative Program.

The UMTA program was triggered by President Jimmy Carter's urban policy, which is intended to focus federal spending on helping urban leaders improve cities.

Rimmel emphasized that the $4.4 million total is in capital funds, of which 80 percent will be provided by the federal government, and that these funds will not take away from funds provided for operation of the bus system, nor could they be used for that purpose.

Work on the renovation should begin about Dec. 1 and will be completed one year from now. Charles Houghton, Bi-State executive director, called the action by the board "a giant step toward fulfillment of a three-year-old dream."

"Many people at Bi-State have worked long and hard on this Laclede's Landing project. We see this as a red letter day for the agency and a positive step toward improving our efficiency of operation."

"The area also should benefit economically from Bi-State's presence on the Landing. We estimate that at least 100 new jobs will result from lease of the commercial areas."

According to John Booth, Bi-State director of engineering, "Renovation of the Christian Paper building will be one of the most cost-effective measures Bi-State has taken, because in the long run it will allow us to reduce our operating overhead by at least $200,000 a year."

"The renovation cost is $20 per square foot cheaper than the cost of comparable new construction. And the rental income should offset the local and operating costs of the project."

"This will be one of the most energy-efficient office buildings in the city. It will incorporate a passive solar system that will take solar heat and disperse it throughout the building."

"It will also incorporate a unique, low-cost lighting system called 'task ambient.' That means light will be directed where people have to work."

"In addition, a balanced and monitored heating and air conditioning system will be tuned to use only what is needed."

"The building will contain 100,000 square feet of renovated space, which includes commercial retail areas on the first floor and basement."

"Built in 1898-99, the Christian Paper building will retain its turn-of-the-century flavor through renovation, with some notable improvements. The lower floor areas will be for shops and public use, with easy accessibility."

"An arcade will be created, with glass storefronts set back from the exterior masonry face of the building. A landscaped series of terraces with benches for public use will occupy the space between the exterior of the building and the storefronts."

Laclede's Landing, one of the few remaining historic places in St. Louis, was placed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1976. It consists of a cluster of old warehouse buildings lining narrow cobblestone streets in a three-square-block area on the Missouri side of the riverfront between the Eads and Martin Luther King Jr. bridges.

Chairman Rimmel commented, "This new headquarters in Laclede's Landing will represent an opportunity for Bi-State to function from a centralized location, one which at the edge of the Mississippi River symbolizes the agency's involvement both in Missouri and Illinois."

South High open house Tuesday

Granite City High School South's open house will be held Tuesday from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Included in this year's program will be "mini-classes," in which parents will be able to participate in a simulated classroom setting.

The program will begin with a general session in the auditorium at 7 p.m. Principal James Dumont will welcome parents, and the stage band and pom-pom girls will perform.

As an additional feature, college admissions counselors from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and Belleville Area College, along with a financial aid counselor from SIUE, will be on hand to answer questions from students and parents.

Mini-classes in art, business, English and home economics, among others, will be featured. A style show presented by the fashion merchandising classes will be held in the auditorium at 8 p.m.

Parents will also be able to visit with teachers to ask questions concerning their children's progress in school.

Botulism poses a threat

Some familiar meats now require extra special care

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser, Home Economics

Next time you pick up a package of hot dogs or a pound of bacon at the grocery store, read the label.

Some familiar-looking meat products require new and special care.

Some bacon, frankfurters, salami, bologna and other cold meat products are no longer preserved or cured with the nitrite or nitrate that gave them the long refrigerator life we are used to.

Because traditionally cured and the "uncured" products rest side-by-side at the meat counter, you must read the label to know what they are getting.

The "uncured" label on meats means you must treat these products just like fresh pork or ground beef.

The new, uncured frankfurters, bacon and lunch meats keep safely in the refrigerator only four to seven days, rather than the two to three weeks meats cured with nitrites would maintain their safety and quality.

Nitrite acts as both preservative and enhancer of color and flavor in meat. It preserves meat by preventing the growth of germs that cause diseases such as the deadly botulism.

But recent concern about the safety of nitrites prompted the U.S. Department of Agriculture to require alternative curing processes.

Some scientists regard additives, like nitrite, harmful to human health. Others are concerned about reports linking nitrites to cancer in laboratory animals. The U.S. Department of Agriculture ruled to provide nitrate-free processing, in order to provide consumers the option of purchasing nitrite-free products.

Consumers now must protect themselves from botulism and other toxic substances that can grow in the uncured meat. These rules should be followed to keep uncured meat safe.

—Refrigerate uncured meat products immediately after you buy them, and keep them refrigerated until you use them.

—Don't leave them at room temperature for more than a few minutes. —Don't pack uncured bologna sandwiches in a brown bag lunch if you can't keep the sandwiches cold until lunch time.

—Freeze the meat in its original packaging or wrap tightly in aluminum foil or freezer paper.

—Defrost the meat in the refrigerator or by immersing it in a water tight wrapper in cold water.

—If the meat requires cooking, cook it thoroughly or according to package label directions.

—Refrigerate leftovers promptly and use them within three to four days.

—Carry uncured meat products to a picnic in a well-insulated cooler with plenty of ice. Carry enough ice to keep leftovers cold until you return home.

Personal growth to be topic

Personal growth—what it is and how can it increase individual effectiveness—will be the subject of a day-long workshop Tuesday, Dec. 4, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Personal growth can be a way of increasing each person's capacity for choice, according to Richard McKinney, associate professor of organizational behavior and workshop leader. It offers an alternative to the compulsively-driven response and can increase the use of each individual's full potential, he adds.

McKinney, who earned a doctoral degree at St. Louis University, said the idea is part Gestalt therapy and part transactional analysis, but he emphasizes that the workshop will not be a therapy session.

"It is an educational approach, to what personal growth is all about, and will be based on participation and activities," he said. McKinney, a member of the management faculty in the SIUE School of Business, is a consultant for personal, management and organizational development activities and has completed research using the personal growth processes. He will introduce a variety of personal growth tools and offer some actual experience. The seminar, a community service program, will meet between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Dec. 4 in Classroom Building III, Room 3317. Pre-registration, including all meeting materials, is $30. Registration at the door is $35, according to Barbara Woods, 692-2668.

New government work program for area youths

The Madison County Office of Manpower Development has announced the opening of a winter Operation Turnaround Program to complement its summer time

Operation Turnaround activities. Operation Turnaround is a work program specifically designed for juvenile offenders between 14 and 18 years of age. During the winter and spring, each participant, in a crew consisting of four participants and one counselor-supervisor, will work all day Saturday for a county or city agency. Some participants are also enrolled in alternative high school programs within the county.

Twenty-five juveniles and four counselor-supervisors will begin work Dec. 1 under the direction of Program Work Adviser Mark Somma. Juveniles interested in applying must meet CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) eligibility guidelines. They may apply at any Madison County Illinois Job Service office, including: 1820 Cleveland Blvd., Granite City.

111 W. Vandalia, Edwardsville. There will also be workshops and programs to provide needed information on careers, education and personal problem-solving. For further information, Quad-Cityans may contact Mark Somma at 692-4008. Director is Daniel Churovich. Shirley Wiemers heads the youth division.

BURGLARY ON BRYAN

Items valued at about $600 were stolen during a burglary at the home of Sherman Briggs, 2417 Bryan Ave., between 1 p.m. Monday and 1:45 a.m. Tuesday. A door was kicked open. Known missing are a television set, a tape player, about 30 tape recordings, six silver half-dollars, three old nickles, three silver dimes and one steel penny.

Fewer job-related deaths; injury rate remains unchanged

The Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U.S. Department of Labor has just reported that job-related deaths decreased from 4,769 in 1977 to 4,590 in 1978 for private employers with 11 or more employees.

This represents a decrease of about four percent from the 1977 level despite an over-the-year employment rise of five percent.

Based on the hours at work, the fatality rate fell from 0.91 in 1977 to 0.82 in 1978 per 10,000 full-time workers—a 10 percent reduction.

The information on deaths resulted from new information supplied by employers who also report in the bureau's Annual Survey of Occupational Injuries and Illnesses.

Following are some key findings:

1. During 1978, over-the-road motor vehicle accidents (cars and trucks) accounted for 29 percent of the job-related deaths and aircraft and crashes accounted for seven percent.

2. Heart attacks accounted for nine percent of the fatalities.

3. Thirteen percent of deaths resulted from falls, with half occurring to construction workers.

4. Nine percent of the fatalities resulted from industrial vehicles and equipment accidents.

5. Construction industries, employing five percent of the workers, accounted for 20 percent of the fatalities.

6. The services industries, representing 21 percent of all workers, accounted for only eight percent of the deaths.

7. Six of every 10 fatalities from contact with electric occurred to workers in the construction, transportation and public utilities industries.

8. Of all the deaths due to being struck by objects, over half occurred in manufacturing. This industry also accounted for 61 percent of the deaths due to inhalation of gases.

The 4,590 work injury and illness fatalities in 1978 for employers with 11 or more employees represent all deaths reported resulting from an occupational injury or illness that occurred in 1978, regardless of the length of time between the injury and death or the length of the illness resulting in death.

Of these, nearly 500 were illness related, primarily due to heart attacks.

The Occupational Injuries and Illnesses Survey is a federal-state program in which reports are received and processed by state agencies participating with the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The occupational fatality statistics reported through the annual survey are based on the records which employers maintain under the Occupational Injuries and Illness Act of 1970. Excluded from coverage under the Act are working conditions covered by other federal safety and health laws.

The survey covers employers in private industries. Excluded are the self-employed; farmers with fewer than 11 employees; and employees in federal, state and local government agencies.

In a separate reporting system, agencies of the federal government are filing reports with the secretary of Labor comparable with those of the private sector.

The Bureau said that about one in every 11 workers, on the average, in the private economy experienced a job-related injury or illness during 1978.

The survey, based on reports of 1978 experiences submitted during 1979 by employers in the private economy, shows an incidence rate of 9.4 injuries and illnesses per 100 full-time workers compared with a rate of 9.3 per full-time workers in 1977.

Although the injuries and illnesses increased by six percent, they were proportionate to the rise in the number of workers and their hours on the job. Therefore, the rate of injuries and illnesses continued at virtually the same rate in 1978 as in 1977.

About 5.66 million work-related injuries occurred during 1978, up from the 5.30 million level of 1977.

The number of injuries involving lost worktime increased nearly 300,000—from 2.1 million to 2.4 million. Injuries that did not result in lost worktime increased by 66,000. The average number of days—16—per lost workday injury remained the same as in the previous year.

About 38.2 million workdays were lost due to work-related injuries during 1978—up from 35.2 million in 1977. Translated into a rate per 100 full-time workers, the rate moved from 60 lost workdays in 1977 to 62.1 in 1978.

Last time injury rates increased in seven of the eight industry divisions between 1977 and 1978; only in the finance, insurance and real estate division did the rate remain at the 1977 level.

The largest over-the-year change in the injury incidence rate for an industry division was in construction, which rose from 13.2 to 15.8, although the rate of lost workdays declined from 109.7 to 108.1.

About 145,500 recognized occupational illnesses were estimated for 1978, compared to 162,000 for 1977.

Danish-U.S. link in chemistry research

By NARY BRASE

The problems and ideas in chemistry are international and so may be the solutions, according to two chemists working together on a research project for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Aage E. Hansen, senior lecturer at the Oersted Institute at the University of Copenhagen is visiting Thomas D. Bouman, professor of chemistry at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville until Nov. 24 in the latest series of exchange visits included in the project. Bouman was in Copenhagen for three weeks last summer.

The two scientists make the visits under a three-year grant for basic research sponsored by the Scientific Affairs Division of NATO.

They are working with the light absorption of certain compounds, trying to find a link that may relate the absorption to the structure of the compound.

The collaborators published several articles on the results in professional journals the last two years. Since then, the team has refined its methods and is able to make more predictions. A comprehensive review will be published next spring in "Advances in Chemical Physics."

Hansen and Bouman first met 15 years ago when both were students at the University of Minnesota and have kept in contact, but they did not begin working together until the NATO grant was approved in 1973.

Since then, both have made periodic visits to each university.

Hansen, who stays in the same private home each time he comes here, said he feels "quite at home" in the United States. This trip, he has combined the SIUE project with lectures at the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, the University of Nevada at Reno, the University of California at Berkeley and the University of Minnesota.

Neither scientist has problems with changes in language or culture because most Danes read English and use texts in the language. Bouman said he always feels welcome in Copenhagen and has taken his family along on one trip.

Bouman also takes along his recorder, a musical instrument from the Renaissance era that resembles a clarinet but is played like a flute. The scientists both play the recorder and make a point of bringing it along to enjoy a duet of classical music.

Both men have to live through the "jet lag" and have found no cure but to rest the first two days of each visit to compensate for the seven-hour time difference between Copenhagen and SIUE.

Hansen said it was a nine-hour difference this trip because he flew directly to California for the first lecture. "I found myself waking up at 3 o'clock in the morning, but that's the only thing I part of the collaboration."

The advantage to the dual arrangement is the expansion of ideas and questions that continue to come up. "We just make lists," Hansen said, "and they grow longer."

Locally, they have contacted other chemists at Washington University in St. Louis, and they also work with Prof. David Lightner of the University of Nevada, Reno, who does the actual laboratory work or the experiment.

"We have more projects that we can work with," Bouman said. "I just wish we had a large blackboard."

Some of the proposed projects will be subjects for new funding requests when the researchers complete the light absorption experiments this year.

Hansen said the format of allowing two scientists to work on the same project, periodically comparing notes, has the advantage of exposing the ideas and the research to more people in both university communities.

He and Bouman both favor continuing the method, possibly including more partners at other universities in the next research project.

For Hansen, the visits to American universities, and particularly SIUE, offer an added benefit for his program. He can compare the different education systems and the different approaches he sees to teaching chemistry.

As chairman of the chemistry department in Copenhagen, he is concerned with the content and ideas in the classes. "We constantly ask—should this be in the freshman course or should some ideas be presented if the students don't understand the background for them," he said.

Hansen has also found two SIUE professors who are writing an introductory chemistry text. "It is interesting to talk to them and see what they include," he said.

At each university, Hansen also takes time to read the new college texts. "It is much easier to learn about new texts here. I shop around to find what's new."

Hearing on deductions for charity

An informational hearing on the Fisher-Conable bill with staff aides of Representatives Robert Young, Richard Gephart, Harold Volkmer and Senator John Danforth will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 29, at the Junior League headquarters, 8250 Clayton Road.

The bill, co-sponsored by Congressman Melvin Price and Senators Charles Percy, provides for tax deductions for charitable contributions regardless of whether or not the taxpayer itemizes his return.

The public is being invited to the hearing, at which representatives of the Arts and Education Council, United Way, Easter Seals Society, Boy Scouts and Red Cross will present testimony.

Proponents of the bill point the number of taxpayers using the standard deduction has risen dramatically in recent years, resulting in an estimated loss in charitable contributions in excess of $5 billion since 1970.

Coal-coke research need noted

Increased scientific input is needed to help solve the manufacturing, pollution abatement and byproduct handling problems of coke-making in America, a symposium was told last week in Washington.

Fifty experts from industry, government and the academic and research fields explored these areas at West Virginia University, Morgantown, W. Va., under the joint auspices of the National Science Foundation and the American Iron and Steel Institute.

The institute is expected to lead to proposals for specific university research projects, to be funded by government and industry.

The intelligent design of new facilities or the improvement of the existing process must make use of both basic sciences and engineering sciences, Dr. Norman A. Robins, Vice-President, Research, Inland Steel Co., said in a keynote paper.

He reviewed problems associated with the manufacturing of coke, and some of the approaches to solutions achieved to date.

One aspect of the coke situation is the fact that the United States steel industry has become dependent to an important degree on imported coke. This dependence is a threat to adequacy of steel production in the future, it was asserted.

The research needs of coke-making were described by Dr. Richard Thompson of Bethlehem Steel Corp.

The status of engineering sciences was described by Jim Graham, director of the British Carbonization Research Association. Following these presentations, the meeting broke up into working groups to consider specific areas for detailed examination.

To close 20th, 21st streets in December

Closing of 20th and 21st streets for two five-day periods has been authorized by Granite City officials to permit work by Granite City Steel on construction of steel supports for a new pressure line that will cross both streets.

At the request of the steel firm, the council approved closing of 20th Street on Dec. 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7, and the closing of 21st Street on Dec. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14.

The company told the city by letter that the time is needed for work of erecting the new high pressure line and to install an eight-inch nitrogen line that will go under the streets.

Winter quarter registration

Registration for the winter quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will begin Dec. 5. Robert Bruker, director of admissions and records, said registration by appointment only will be Dec. 5 and 6 from 8:30 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Registration without an appointment (open registration) will take place Dec. 7 and Jan. 2 during the same hours. All registration activities will be conducted in Meridian Ballroom of the University Center.

Winter quarter classes are scheduled to begin Jan. 2 at 4:30 p.m.

Students having disabilities affecting their mobility and dexterity and students with visual impairment may qualify for pre-registration. Bruker said: these students must have a certification card from the University Health Service located in Room 0202 of the John S. Rendleman Building.

Pre-registration is scheduled in the Enrollment Center Dec. 3 from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. The center is in Room 1308 of the Rendleman Building.

Members of the community who would like to attend classes at the university for the first time should apply for admission immediately. Applications for admission are available in the Office of Admissions and Records.

People who would like to learn more about a particular area of study, but are not interested in academic credit, may participate in the university's Educad Program. This permits people to attend selected regular academic classes on a space-available basis.

Educad learners do not earn credit and no official record is kept of their class participation.

Course listings and applications for the Educad Program are available through the Office of Conferences and Institutes at SIUE.

Wilbur Wallace, 73, dies

Wilbur "Wally" Wallace, 73, of 2120 Nevada Ave., a retired laborer, died at 7:50 p.m. Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

He had been a resident of Colonial Haven Nursing Home for six weeks and was hospitalized for five days.

Born in Iberia, Mo., Mr. Wallace was a Granite City resident for 67 years.

Mr. Wallace worked for Lybarger Construction Co., as a laborer prior to his retirement 15 years ago.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ruby Wallace; two sons, Donald Wallace, Redding, Calif., and Floyd Wallace, Chester, Ill.; three daughters, Mrs. Richard (Delores) Biggs, Granite City, Mrs. Walter (Lucille) Waljas, Chicago, and Mrs. Howard (Sharon) Jordan, Madison; three sisters, Mrs. Luther (Geneva) Tidwell, Granite City, Mrs. Grace

Hutton, White City, Ill., and Mrs. Mae Hutton, Rella, Mo.; 26 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday. Details are given in the obituary column.

McCambridge CRASH

Two men were injured when the cars of Robert Szegedy, Collinsville, and Paul Manoff, 24, St. Louis, collided at McCambridge Avenue and Edwardsville Road during the past week. Manoff suffered minor injuries, but declined to be taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. A passenger in his car, John Becker, 20, Florissant, Mo., was taken to the medical center where he was treated for a bump to his forehead and was released.

Coordination

Friday. "The purpose of the Coordinated Permit Review Process is to simplify and reduce the burden of permit requirements imposed on the applicant. But each control division will conduct its own review on this portion of the project affecting it."

"It enables the IEPA to conduct a comprehensive review of the proposed project in order to reduce to a minimum any adverse impact on the environment such a project might have if permitted."

"The program will cut the number of steps needed in the permit process and, as a result, conserve human and economic resources."

The director pointed out that the program is designed for evaluating applications to construct and develop projects that involve two or more of the agency's control divisions. It does not apply to operating permits.

There are five steps in the new program, of which the first and second are optional.

They are: (1) discussion of the overall project; (2) discussion of the project involving each division; (3) submission of an overall project plan;

(4) submission of a total project application; and (5) permit issuance, providing that all conditions are met. Currently, it is estimated that 100 out of a total of 5,000 permits issued annually by the agency will be affected by the new program.

"These must submit an overall project plan to the agency discussing the project's effects on air and water resources, public water supplies and waste disposal facilities."

This overall plan requires general project information rather than extensive engineering data.

"The projects affected, while small in number, represent about $1 billion in construction of new facilities," Mauzy said.

"I see this new procedure as benefitting not only the new project once it is permitted, but also the permit and the agency in the following ways:

1. "Major new projects will be reviewed as a whole at an early stage in their planning."

2. "Such projects will be given priority in the review process by the agency."

3. "The applicant will have one contact person in the agency through which all communications will be channeled."

4. "A comprehensive review of the project will avoid many, if not all, of the pitfalls of a committee's definition of the proverbial elephant."

"The need for this kind of permitting program has grown over the years," Mauzy said.

"As the regulations for new facilities became more and more complicated within each division."

"Last February, a committee was named to work out procedures for the coordinated permit review system, and this system is now in operation."

"The new program cuts out a lot of 'red tape' and will benefit everyone involved."

The committee was made up of permit section managers of all the control divisions plus a legal counsel. Committee members were: Michael Hayes, Division of Air Pollution; chairman; Thomas McSwiggan, Division of Water Pollution; Roger Sebring, Division of Public Water Supplies; Thomas Cavanagh, Division of Land and Noise; and Mary Rehmann, counsel.

Tax hike

downtown Edwardsville parking lot from the city; another $65,000 is to be paid from next year's budget.

James Heil of Godfrey defended the parking lot purchase and the tax increase, citing "14 per cent inflation."

Board Member Daniel Partney of Granite City opposed the parking lot proposal and said, "In the next fiscal year, this board is going to have to take a longer, harder look at trimming the fat. People are getting taxed to death. We need to take a harder look at how money is being spent."

He voted negatively on the $8.1 million tax levy, as did Morris Miles of Mitchell, Roger Eble of Wood River, Jack Frandsen of Alhambra, Richard Worthen of Alton, Fred Dalton of Collinsville and Don McLean of Edwardsville. Dalton and McLean are members of the Finance Committee. Remaining revenue comes from the state and federal governments, fines, fees and grants.

McLean said he favored trimming departmental budgets to avoid a tax hike. Dalton said he would "refer to see the county provide fee services rather than raise taxes."

Miss Bowles said the eight-cent rate increase is probable even with Wednesday's court ruling upholding the replacement tax for the corporate personal property tax. She said the Finance Committee might have been counting on larger end-of-the-year fund balances than those that are likely as of Nov. 30.

The 100-car parking lot is situated near the new county jail, which is nearing completion. Heil said some of the spaces are to be set aside for jurors and others can be rented to county officials and employees.

Critics said the city might have continued the lot anyway, and that the purchase is a "subsidy for the City of Edwardsville."

Partney asked whether the property had been appraised. Heil said it is not required when governmental bodies sell property to one another, but added he believes a new lot would cost $300,000.

structures ranges from 21.9 to 32 feet, and the sections are sealed and separated by double oversized fire doors. There are both rail and truck loading facilities. Most sections contain dry sprinkler systems, dehumidifiers and office facilities.

A spokesman said, "The building space is available for lease on a variety of terms. Lease agreements can be tailored to meet specific needs of industry, including modifications of space as required, provision of office space, and Port District financing of equipment and improvements."

"The land and buildings are being acquired as part of the disposition of surplus property at the Army Installation. Long-term leases are available, with the Port District ready to build to industry needs and specifications."

"The district, created by an act of the Illinois legislature in 1959, has a mandate to improve and promote industrial, commercial and transportation activities. It handles over 2,200,000 tons of cargo annually through the facilities of existing operators and fleet services."

"There are public liquid bulk terminal facilities operating through Apex Oil Co., public dry bulk terminaling operated by Bulk Service Corp., and public general cargo and bulk terminaling operated by Granite City Terminals Corp.

"There also is the Tri-City International Industrial Center, an 86-acre tract adjacent to the Port."

"Foreign Trade Zone 31 will have a 120,000-square-foot building available for leasing. Along with barge fleet, harbor services, and highway-rail-air-waterway links, there are security services, public truck scales and varied managerial services," the spokesman concluded.

While attending law school, he was a member of the staff and editor of the St. Louis University Law Journal and upon graduation, he served as a law clerk for United States District Judge Omar Poos in Springfield.

He later served as chief assistant in the Madison County state's attorney's office for former state's attorney Leon Scroggins.

In 1972, he ran against Calvo for state representative from the 56th Legislative District and lost in a very close race which was not decided until ballots from Canteen Township in St. Clair County were tallied.

Kinder serves on the board of directors of the Mental Health Clinic, Quad-City Center, and was its chairman for six years. He also is a member and past president of the Tri-City Bar Association and holds membership in the Illinois State Bar Association, the American Trial Lawyer Association, Triple Lodge 353 AF and AM, the Madison Lion's Club and is on the advisory board of Explorer Post 10-4.

He is married to the former Diana Hillen of Granite City and they reside at 17 Del Rio Ave. with their daughter, Jill.

THEFT FROM HOME

About $65 worth of food stamps, $12 cash and a pair of eyeglasses were stolen from the top of the freezer at the home of Winifred Scarbrough, 1004 Kirkpatrick Homes, last week. She said she believes the theft occurred while she was upstairs and a door was left unlocked.

'A Christmas Corral' presentation Friday

DRIVER IS ARRESTED

Randall K. Dennis, 18, of 711 Ashland Ave., Mitchell, was arrested in the 3000 block of Nameoki Road at 11:35 p.m. Wednesday and was charged with illegal transportation of alcohol, littering and being a minor in possession of alcohol. Police said his van was in the north-bound lanes with two flat tires and when a squad car approached, the driver allegedly threw a paper bag containing a beer bottle out of the window into the south-bound lanes. A broken beer bottle was found in the bag, police said.

"A Christmas Corral" by Andy Gregg, a comedy spoof of the famous Dickens' classic will be presented Friday, Nov. 30, at the school cafeteria at Granite City High School North.

The action takes place in the "old west." The Dessert Theater, a special feature, of the North Tiespin Speech Club will serve dessert at 7 p.m. and the performance will be at 8 p.m.

Tickets in advance are $1.50 for students, $2 for adults and children under 12 years of age 75 cents. Except for children, admission at the door is 50 cents higher than advance sale. Tickets are available to the public in the school office from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. A special feature of the presentation will be over 125 homemade desserts made by North students.

honored for completing their accounts during the solicitation time assigned to them.

Kenneth Bryan, a supervisor at the American Steel Foundries' Granite City Works, announced to the group assembled that the plant had increased its total pledges by 6 1/2 percent over last year's giving. Total pledges amounted to $89,000 for this year. He explained that a resolicitation of the work force at the plant had netted a portion of the increase realized.

The final report luncheon for the 1979 campaign is to be on Friday, Dec. 7. The Dutch-treat lunch will be served at 11:45 a.m. in the YMCA auditorium.

eligible and the governor approves of the action," Dan Goodwin, manager of the Division of Air Pollution Control, said Friday.

"Before he can make such a decision, a thorough study of the area must be conducted, the majority of local governments in the affected area must agree to the change, a public hearing must be held, and the state legislature must be consulted," Goodwin added. The state agency will be conducting this study with the assistance of local planning groups serving the region, interested state agencies, and other air pollution advisors.

At the conclusion of the study, a report will be prepared to serve as a focus for hearings and discussions.

Halt per-diem pay for county board

All members of the Madison County Board will be on salary when the board members who are elected next year are seated, it was agreed last week.

Those seated for two-year terms in December of 1980 will receive $5,500 per year, the board decided after a lengthy debate on the advantages of the salary versus the per-diem method of paying board members.

Newspaper criticism of board members on per-diem who attended a large number of county meetings, was cited as one reason the flat salaries were preferred. Some meetings lasting only a few minutes where those attending collected per-diem pay were cited by county newspapers which contended the per-diem system was being misused.

Board Member Daniel

Partney of Granite City agreed, saying, "I've attended meetings which last only 15 minutes."

Board Member Roger Eble of Wood River, who is up for re-election next year, noted that half the board has been on salary for two years and stated, "The salary's being abused. Some on salary work long and hard and deserve what they get. Others abuse it." He argued for continuing $40 per diem pay for board members.

In the $5,500 adopted for the new salary is the same as the current on salary are receiving.

Winter driving tactics vary for smaller cars

Granite City Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer today noted vehicle registration figures that reflect the car buyers' trend toward smaller, lighter, more fuel-efficient vehicles and had this advice for motorists.

"Winter driving research has both good news and bad news for motorists who drive smaller cars under winter slick road conditions."

Chief Veizer said he has combined available information from accident reports with formal winter driving tests conducted by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. Committee findings and recommendations have long been endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

"First the good news," the chief continued, "a subcompact car is likely to require a shorter distance in a panic stop on ice than a compact car. A compact car, in turn, is likely to require a shorter distance than a standard car, according to committee findings."

"That's good for the smaller car drivers," Chief Veizer pointed out, "because stopping distances for the lighter cars can be as much as 25 percent shorter."

The chief cited the bad news, according to the skid testers' findings: First, the smaller, lighter cars develop less breakaway traction than standard size cars on ice.

YORK, MRS. RUBY O. (Rhoads), formerly of 202 Alton Ave., Madison, entered into rest 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 22, 1979, at the Elder Care Nursing Home, Alton.

Beloved wife of the late Ralph York; dear mother of Lester Freeman, Mrs. Betty Parra, Mrs. Rose Murphy, Mrs. Mae Thompson, Mrs. Frances Cox and Mrs. Pearl Ellison; dear sister of Mrs. Lena Elliot, Mrs. Daisy Strong and Mrs. Elizabeth Walker; dear grandmother, and great-grandmother.

Funeral services were held at 9 a.m. today, Nov. 26, at LAHEY FUNERAL HOME Chapel, 501 Madison Ave., Madison, with the Rev. Herry Crippen officiating. Interment St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Rd.

And once stopped, lighter cars have notable difficulty getting back into motion once again particularly at warmer ice temperatures or when ice has become highly polished such as at intersections. He added that these performance comparisons are based on conventional rear-drive cars. Future tests may provide comparable data relating to the increasingly popular front-drive vehicles.

In relation to other stopping problems, Chief Veizer pointed out other winter performance findings. Where studded tires may be used legally, they help.

Tires with new studs on the rear wheels reduce braking distances about 19 percent on ice.

Tire chains are the best self-help for stopping on ice, where they cut braking distances by 50 percent as compared with regular highway tires.

When it comes to getting started and keeping going, On ice — conventional snow tires develop about 28 percent more traction ability than regular tires; studded snow tires provide about three times and reinforced tire chains about seven times the traction of regular tires.

On loosely packed snow — conventional snow tires develop about half again as much pulling ability as regular tires; while reinforced tire chains provide about four times the pull of regular tires.

As for the performance of radial tires: Contrary to the impression of many motorists, radial tires are not necessarily a substitute for snow tires for driving on snow and ice. The performance of radial tires varies widely and is dependent on tread configuration; that is, a snow tread will perform as a snow tire; a regular tread will perform as a regular highway tire.

In spite of the help provided by traction aids for stopping and starting, Chief Veizer concluded, performance is nowhere equal that on normal dry pavement.

"Our best advice is to reduce speeds drastically. Follow other vehicles at a far greater distance. Perform all maneuvers — slowing, steering or accelerating — with a gentle, delicate touch. Easy does it!"

Rehabilitation project to cost city $46,903

The most expensive home rehabilitation project yet undertaken by Granite City was authorized by city officials last week with approval of an additional cost of $46,903 for the rehabilitation work on a house at 2008 Buxton Ave.

The additional repair costs result from inspections by city inspectors that revealed a number of specifications that did not meet city code requirements. Since a contract for work on the house already had been awarded on the basis of specifications previously prepared by an agent of HUD from Edwardsville, it was necessary to list the additional work as extras, according to Alderman Paul Fisk, chairman of the City Council rehabilitation committee.

Fisk told the aldermen the additional work will total $12,203 which will bring the total cost of rehabilitation work to $28,703. The earlier contract for repair and remodeling work under the original set of specifications was $16,500.

The remodeling cost is in addition to the cost of the house which the city purchased at a price of $18,200. These figures bring to $46,903 the overall cost of the house and remodeling work which will allow the city to sell the property.

Under the rehabilitation program, the city buys a house which is repaired and remodeled throughout and then sold on bids.

The work needed on the homes to return them to use is provided by the Community Development Block Grant agency. Fisk noted that the Buxton Avenue project is the most expensive job yet undertaken by the city. He said he believes it will be possible to sell the home to recover costs.

"The project is not planned to make a profit. We hope to rehabilitate the homes to provide housing facilities and to return to use homes that otherwise might be razed."

Fewer meetings set for GC school board

Due to the holidays and busy personal schedules, the Granite City Board of Education will hold only one meeting per month in December and January, it was decided at the last board meeting.

The board selected Dec. 18 and Jan. 15 as the meeting dates for those months.

Permission was given to the Salvation Army to ask the schools to collect canned goods donated by students for distribution in Christmas baskets. Nameoki Township also was authorized to collect canned goods at Nameoki, Lake, Maryville and Parkview elementary schools, Grigsby Junior High School and Granite City High School North for Christmas baskets. The principals of those schools will decide how the donations will be divided between the township and the Salvation Army.

The Cystic Fibrosis Association also was granted permission to place posters in the schools for a Bowl-A-Thon and sponsor sheets for those who would like to participate.

Gifts accepted by the board, with thanks, included about $2,000 worth of equipment and materials for Nameoki School, being donated by that school's PTA. Items for Nameoki School, including gym equipment, a tape recorder and an automatic duplicating machine, will be purchased on bids accepted by the board of education and the PTA will reimburse the board.

A stereo record player also was accepted from the Webster School PTA for that school's music teacher to use.

Permission was granted to Grace Baptist Church to use Johnson School on Monday evenings for recreational activities and the Community Heights Assembly of God Church was authorized to use Johnson School's gymnasium on Tuesday evenings for basketball practices.

The retirement of Loris Boyer, a cafeteria worker at Mitchell School, was accepted with regrets. The board also gave a leave of absence to Theresa Barylske, a cafeteria worker at Granite City High School, until Dec. 31, when she plans to retire.

Mark E. Gonia, a senior at St. Louis University High School, was given permission to aid in the multiple handicapped classes at Lake School Jan. 3 to 24, as a senior project. Gonia is the son of Lake School Principal Ed Gonia.

FIREMEN DONATE. Ed McGovern, left, and Bob Bell, representing Firefighters Local 253, present a check for $100 Monday afternoon to Mrs. Philip Stucker, recording secretary of the Human Growth Foundation. The foundation benefits children with severe growth problems. A benefit basketball game will be played on Nov. 29 by the St. Louis Streaks women's professional team at Kiel Auditorium with $1 of each ticket purchase going to the group. All Granite City fire stations, Mendoza Sporting Goods and Maryland Barber Shop are selling tickets for the game through Nov. 28. In front of the adults are Guy Stucker and Brian Wood, both 5-years-old. Brian is a victim of such growth-related problems that the foundation helps. McGovern and Bell are the president and vice president, respectively, of Local 253. Brian is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wood of Glen Carbon.

City cuts insurance cost

Granite City will operate under a new workmen's compensation program that is expected to reduce its insurance cost by approximately 50 percent over a three-year plan accepted by the council last week.

The aldermen gave their approval to a program of self insurance developed for the city by Arthur J. Gallagher Co. of St. Louis which possibly may reduce the city's workmen's compensation premium cost to about $66,000 per year, compared to a present premium cost of $130,000 a year.

Council members approved the proposal after the St. Louis insurance firm told the council that figures in the proposal would be guaranteed three years. Originally the proposal did not contain a time clause.

Chris Koenemann, account executive of Gallagher Co., presented the proposal a month ago, noting that a self-insurance plan would result in substantial savings to the city because regular rates have been rising steadily, including a 24 percent boost in September. While the city premiums now run about $130,000 per year, the city could be self assured for about $66,240 for the first year and for an overall cost of about $294,247 for the full three-year period.

Under the proposal, the city's annual cost would include a $26,000 premium for excess claims coverage, a $750 premium for a surety bond, legal expense of $1,000 and administrative costs of $15,000.

The city could retain $64,231 which could be invested to earn interest of $2,560 for a total retention of $66,791.

In addition, it was noted, the city would benefit from not having to tie up $130,000 in premium payments, but could settle claims as they developed, keeping the money invested as long as possible.

GS Troop 210 earns badges

Girl Scout Troop 210, of Mitchell School, have been participating in various events to earn the Cyclist and Community Safety badges according to Leaders Lynda Kondrich, Gail Newberry and Katy Baugh, assistant.

Each troop member received instructions on bicycle care and safety rules and signals from Glen Hommert, instructor. They were then required to perform on their own to pass the test.

The scouts also made "send help" signs for each family car and were assigned to make an emergency call list for their home phone.

Trooper John Lybarger conducted a tour of the State Police building in Maryville, for the troop. He explained how the police protect the community and trace information during the excursion.

Those taking part in the program were Karen Andrews, Michelle Bailey, Connie Baugh, Stacy Churchwell, Priscilla Clements, Darla Dailey, Janet Giese, Michelle Kondrich, Heather Krapan, Lori McNelly, Helen Milton, Patricia Moore, Peggy Newberry, Melanie Paschke, Jeanne Robles, Missy Singer, Rhonda Smith, Valerie Sronce.

Pontoon must upgrade Quiet Valley sewers

The Pontoon Beach Village Board will meet at 7 p.m. tomorrow to discuss numerous items, including a letter from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency warning that the Quiet Valley sewers, which lead to the Quiet Valley Lagoon, will have to be upgraded before July, so they can be linked to the new sanitary sewers the county is installing.

The letter, written by Robert L. Schleuger of the EPA Division of Water Quality, indicates the village may apply for a 75 percent grant from the EPA to help pay for an infiltration and inflow study of the Quiet Valley sewers to determine if groundwater is seeping into the system. A sewer system evaluation study then may be required to identify specific problem areas.

Part of the agreement between the county sewer district and Granite City officials on the use of the city's sewage treatment plant for effluent from the new sewers, is that no groundwater will be allowed into the new sewers.

"We will treat their sewage, but we will not allow one drop of groundwater into the treatment plant," Granite City Engineer Monroe Brewer stated last week.

Schleuger's letter said that inspections conducted last summer and again in October indicate there may be a substantial problem with the sewers, which serve the Quiet Valley subdivision, which is at the southeast corner of the village.

Village officials say their engineer, Ed Juneau of the Sheppard, Morgan & Schwab engineering and consulting firm of Granite City is preparing the EPA application and plans to meet with EPA officials in Springfield to try and streamline the application, eliminating portions which do not pertain to the village or the sewers in question.

If the studies have not been completed and repairs done by the time the sewers are ready for use, the EPA will not issue a permit for the system to attach into the new sewers, according to Schleuger.

New Water Co. building

The Illinois American Water Company has announced the start of construction of a new office building in East St. Louis.

Robert Greaves, vice-president and manager, said the new structure, costing $500,000, will be erected on company property at 81st and State Streets, site of the Edgemont Booster Station and the East St. Louis Water Company District distribution center.

The building will contain more than seven thousand square feet of space, with parking for 25 employees. The groundbreaking, with Mayor Carl Officer turning the first shovel of dirt, was held Wednesday.

Customer parking and covered drive-up facilities are included. Exterior construction and finish will be of ribbed block.

Contractor is the Ralph Korte Construction Co. of Highland. Financing is being handled through industrial revenue bonds issued by the City of East St. Louis through the First National Bank of East St. Louis and the First National Bank of Belleville.

Hearing on community development

The Madison County Community Development Department will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, Dec. 4, at 7 p.m. at the Courthouse, Edwardsville, in the County Board room.

Purpose of this hearing will be to obtain citizen approval of the application for activities proposed in the 6th year (1980-81) of the current 3-year Community Development and Housing Assistance Plan.

The public is invited, a spokesman said.

MINISTER HONORED. State Rep. Everett G. Steele (left) presents a gold watch to the Rev. Harvey D. Humes in recognition of ten years of service to the Unity Chapel here.

Unity Chapel dinner honors Rev. Humes

State Representative Everett G. Steele has presented a gold watch on behalf of the Unity Chapel congregation to the Rev. Harvey D. Humes for his ten years of service to the Unity Chapel, Stratford and Village Lanes, Granite City.

The presentation was made at a dinner at Charlie's Restaurant last week attended by the entire congregation, including friends from Granite City, Caseyville, Madison, Edwardsville and Glen Carbon and the Missouri cities of Florissant, Kirkwood, Webster Groves, Jennings, Mehlville and St. Louis.

The Steele family was instrumental in the founding of Unity Chapel about 13 years ago and Rep. Steele has been the organist except when legislative duty calls him to Springfield.

Rev. Humes was ordained at the College of Divine Metaphysics in Indianapolis and also has a doctor of divinity degree.

Before becoming minister of Unity Chapel, he was administrative assistant to the minister at Unity Christ Church in St. Louis, and spent 12 years as youth counselor at Lemay Unity Church.

His business background includes 14 years as production manager for a religious printing company and two years as editor for a national newspaper chain.

National farmers meet

Madison County members of the National Farmers Organization plan to attend sessions of the annual national NFO convention that will be held in Kansas City, Mo., Ed Wein, representative of the county group, announced today. The event will be held Dec. 10-13.

Air index is planned

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council's Air Quality Advisory Committee is coordinating an effort to implement the Pollutant Standards Index in the St. Louis region.

The index, usually referred to as the PSI, was designed by the Environmental Protection Agency to provide a uniform means of reporting daily pollution levels to the public.

A number reflecting air quality on a scale of 0 to 500 is determined each day from information received from air pollution monitoring stations.

The PSI value and a description are typically announced, along with the offending pollutant, in conjunction with radio, television and newspaper weather reports.

In cities across the country, including Washington and Pittsburgh, PSI reports give the public accurate information about the air they breathe.

Since September, the Gateway Council staff has received PSI information each weekday from the Illinois EPA for the Madison-St. Clair counties area, from St. Louis City Air Pollution Control, and from St. Louis County Air Pollution Control.

The Illinois EPA includes a forecast for the next day.

"We expect to make this information available to the media sometime in January," a Gateway spokesman has advised the Press-Record.

Arrest 2 in Lincoln Place

Rick E. Ray, 19, of 1106 Grand Ave., was charged with disorderly conduct and failure to obey a firearm owner's identification card and Richard A. Mousette, 23, of the 2100 block of Ohio Avenue, was charged with battery in a series of incidents in Lincoln Place early Friday.

At 12:30 a.m. Friday, police were called to Holt's Bar, 849 Niedringhaus Ave., on a report of a man wearing a cowboy hat and brandishing a rifle.

Officers found Ray in the back seat of a car nearby and Mousette in the car. Ray was charged with carrying a dangerous weapon, a .38 Smith & Wesson .38 S&W revolver.

Officers were told that Ray first entered Ken's Lounge in the 800 block of Niedringhaus Avenue about midnight, yelled that someone had thrown paint on his car and caused a disturbance, it was alleged. He was evicted, but threatened to get a gun, police were told.

When warned not to damage the tavern, he allegedly said he would not, adding, "I'm after blood." Later, a shot was fired behind the tavern. No damage was done.

Ray and Mousette then allegedly fought on the sidewalk in front of Holt's Bar, with Ray being pushed against a wall. Police restrained Mousette and arrested him on a complaint signed by Ray.

Wm. Burgener dies at 68

William J. Burgener, 68, of 629 Lincoln Ave., Venice, a retired steelworker, died at 9:30 p.m. Saturday at his home. He had been ill for one year.

He had been employed as a burner at General Steel Industries until the plant closed.

Born in St. Vincent, Ark., Mr. Burgener moved to Venice in 1941, to make his home.

He was a member of St. Mark's Roman Catholic Church and also belonged to the Boltermakers Union, was a member of the Board of Directors of Oath, Inc., and Victim Missionaries of the Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, Belleville.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Barbara (Miller) Burgener; one son, William J. Burgener Jr., Granite City; four daughters, Mrs. Robert (Barbara) Wilson (Theresa) Flood, Waukesha, Wis., Miss Lee Ann Burgener and Miss Vicki L. Burgener, both of Venice; one brother, Casper Burgener, Granite City; two sisters, Mrs. Ernest (Marie) Zarling, Cahokia, and Mrs. Hugo

WILLIAM BURGENER

(Catherine) Beck, St. Vincent, Ark.; his mother, Mrs. Pete (Regina) Hoffner; and seven grandchildren. Mr. Burgener was preceded in death by his father, Adolph Burgener and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Kay Garren who died Sept. 29, 1978.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Battle on rural crime is successful—Toffant

Efforts to reduce rural crime by the Madison County Sheriff's Office have been very successful, according to Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant, chief of field operations for the sheriff's department.

Chouteau Island was frequently the scene of house, pot and sex parties in past years and incidents included a double-homicide and numerous rapes. "We had no major incidents on Chouteau Island all summer," according to Toffant. He attributed the success to the stationing of a deputy on the island and the cooperation of the residents, who called the sheriff's office frequently when they saw anything suspicious.

Toffant said the use of CB radios in patrol cars and the training of residents in the proper use of the CB in emergencies has been a good tool. "Every one of our patrol cars has a CB. The farmers are contacting our patrol cars by radio when something happens," the sheriff noted.

Bright noted the number of calls to the sheriff's office from rural residents has increased dramatically. From 3,647 in 1978 to 6,271 in 1979, and contended much of the increase can be attributed to "people turning to our office for assistance. It shows that residents know we will respond quickly to a call for help."

Toffant added, "Our deputies are getting acquainted with the people living in the rural areas. We want to know the people and we want them to know that we are ready to help, if they will just call us."

Cecelia Bartsch dies

Cecelia Bartsch, 74, of Apt. Three, 2808 State St., died at 4:16 a.m. today in St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She had been a patient since Saturday.

She was of Roman Catholic faith, according to Toffant.

She is survived by a cousin Dorothy Trower of Granite City.

Dennis the Menace now on 1st GC Bank staff

An unusual arrangement between First Granite City National Bank and a celebrated cartoon character was announced Friday.

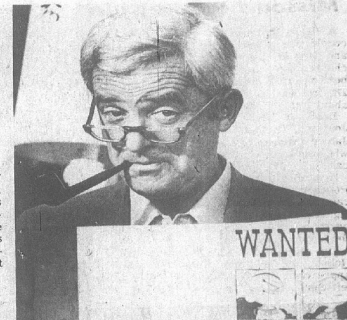

Melvin C. Wilmsmeyer, president of the bank, said he has signed an agreement with representatives of Hank Ketcham, the creator of Dennis the Menace, to provide the bank with an advertising campaign featuring his internationally known brat.

Hank Ketcham has been drawing Dennis in and out of trouble since 1951 when this spunky little hero first appeared as a daily syndicated newspaper cartoon. Today the cartoon is read in more than 700 daily and Sunday newspapers throughout the world.

Dennis' antics are translated into 14 languages in 43 countries.

"We think the addition of Dennis to our staff will certainly help keep things from getting dull," Wilmsmeyer said. "This unique advertising approach is intended to brighten everybody's day as well as present the bank's message."

C.A. Thompson succumbs

Charles Anthony Thompson, 39, of 2914 Pershing Blvd., a lifelong resident of Granite City, died at 3:45 a.m. today at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

He had been ill for five years and was hospitalized for 20 days.

Mr. Thompson was formerly employed as a laborer at General Steel Industries.

He was a U. S. Navy veteran. Survivors include two sons, David and Charles Thompson, both of Granite City; one brother, Gerald Thompson, Eminence, Mo.; a sister, Mrs. Al (Judith) Zahner, Buena Park, Calif.;

and his mother, Mrs. Nadine Thompson, Summersville, Mo.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

$700 FIRE DAMAGE
Fire at the home of Pat Liss, 1724 Chestnut St., at 4:05 p.m. Friday caused an estimated $700 damage, including $500 damage to the building. It is believed the fire started in a wastebasket and spread to floor and then up the south wall. Firemen were on the scene 55 minutes.

HANK KETCHAM, author of Dennis the Menace, has agreed to provide the First Granite City National Bank with an advertising campaign featuring his cartoon brat. Melvin C. Wilmsmeyer, president of the bank who announced the agreement with the cartoonist, said, "This unique advertising approach is intended to brighten everyone's day as well as present the bank's message."

TRUCK IS STOLEN

The red and white 1979 Ford four-wheel-drive truck of Fred Gruenewald, 1111 Collinsville, was stolen from the Granite City Steel 16th Street parking lot between 7:45 a.m. and 8:05 p.m. Wednesday. The truck has a white roll bar with lights on it, white spoke wheels and extra large tires.

Missouri couple killed in I-270 head-on crash

A Blue Springs, Mo., couple was killed instantly and two of their teenage children were injured in a head-on crash on Interstate 270 just east of Route 111 about 7:25 p.m. Wednesday.

Dead are Roy William Johnston, 41, and his wife, Janice Yvonne Johnston, 38, who was thrown from their car.

According to Illinois State Police troopers, the Johnston car was eastbound in the right hand lane, enroute to a wedding in Decatur, when the accident occurred.

The auto of Kenneth E. Holder, 35, Vorden, Ill., approached westbound in the left eastbound lane, causing the driver of a car in front of the Johnston car to brake suddenly, troopers said. Mr. Johnston apparently swerved to the left to avoid the car stopping in front of his auto and collided head-on with Holder's car. Troopers alleged Holder appeared to have been drinking. He was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, reckless driving, improper lane usage and driving too fast for conditions.

He suffered only minor injuries and was taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Madison County Deputy Coroner William Sternberg pronounced Mrs. Johnston dead at the scene at 8:05 p.m. Wednesday and Mr. Johnston died five minutes later. She died of severe head injuries and he died of a crushed chest and broken bones in his right knee and leg and both shoulders, Sternberg said.

Their children, Yvonne, 15, and Carl, 18, were taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where Carl was admitted with a broken right leg and other injuries and Yvonne was treated for facial and head injuries.

She was scheduled for surgery Thursday morning, but was transferred to Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, when her condition worsened.

She was reported in satisfactory condition during the weekend and Carl was listed in good condition.

Mr. Johnston was born in Louisiana and was employed as an auditor with Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. in Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Johnston was a librarian for the Blue Springs school district. She was a native of Mississippi. Survivors include another daughter, Mrs. Steve (Tracy) Oden of Warrensburg, Mo.; his mother, Mrs. Hattie Higgins of Louisiana, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCain of Decatur, Ill.

NAACP TEA SUNDAY

The Madison Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) will hold the Fourth Annual Awards Tea at 4 p.m. Sunday. The event will be held in the Venice Recreation Center, 305 Broadway, Venice. The guest speaker is the Rev. Jerome Jackson. The public is invited, according to the Rev. John H. Williams, president. A donation of $2 is being asked to help cover costs of the tea.

Additional details may be found in the obituary column.

OK school print shop

By GARY SCHNEIDER

The Special Education

Region One Board has given its approval to a plan for establishing a printing shop at Granite City High School

South to serve both special education and regular students.

For the special education students, the shop will serve

"to develop a sense of work responsibility and confidence in themselves as potential employees," Larry

Dew, director for the special education region, summarized.

The actions of the special education board were summarized at the last meeting of the Granite City

Board of Education and the school board gave its approval to several of the actions, including a new salary scale for employees of the special education region for the 1980-81 school year.

As director, Dew is to receive $28,310 per year, including benefits. Assistant

Su Mills will receive $22,830.

Thelma LaThrop will receive an increase from $5.51 per hour to $5.95, Sonja

Chansian's hourly salary will increase from $5.71 to $6.17, and Norma Roney will receive an increase from $5.38 to $5.81.

The school board gave its approval for the hiring of another teacher at $38 per hour.

The school board was informed that the next meeting of the Region One

Board will be held Dec. 5 in the Mississippi Room of Southern Illinois University

at Edwardsville, during which a program on early childhood education will be given. The meetings are open to the public.

Biology open house

A biology open house for high school students and their parents interested in careers in science will be held Saturday.

Seniors and prospective science majors from high schools in the five-county area surrounding the SIUE campus will have the opportunity to visit the research labs and talks with professors, advisers and students in biology to see what SIUE has to offer.

Donal Meyer, professor of biological sciences and co-director of the open house with Prof. Arthur Zablosky, said special sessions explaining requirements and opportunities in pre-professional medical technology and biology-ecology programs will be conducted by professors specializing in each field.

As a group, SIUE pre-professional students have a better-than-average chance of being accepted in medical, dental, veterinary or optometry schools, according to Nancy Parker, associate professor of biology and pre-professional adviser.

Similar departmental surveys have shown high acceptance rates for SIUE students in other graduate programs and high employment rates in medical and educational fields.

Meyer said the department also offers undergraduates an opportunity to work closely with professors and graduates in continuing research projects, as teaching aides, and lab assistants.

Examples of the range of research projects available to students through different members of the biology department will be on display for a walking tour of the laboratory wing.

Biology students from freshmen to graduates who regularly work with each project will be available to answer questions or explain the development of each idea.

Subjects include the effects of environmental pollutants on chromosomes, lizard evolution, relationships of sewage lagoon organisms, anatomy of the chick eye, and animal cell studies with an electron microscope.

The open house will begin at 12 p.m. in Room 314 of the Science Building.

Michael Levy, biological sciences chairman, will formally welcome guests and introduce the program at 1 p.m. in Room 314.

Christmas is coming . . . and it's a busy pre-holiday pace for area university students

CONCERT SOLOISTS. Two of the soloists who will be featured in the annual Christmas concert at SIUE are Reginald Butler (left) of St. Louis, bass, and Joan Holder (right) of Troy, soprano. Piano accompaniment for the opening part of the program will be played by Mary Peters (center) of Granite City. The concert is scheduled Sunday, Dec. 2, at 8:15 p.m. in the University Center.

PEOPLE

BOWL COMPETITORS. Perhaps these members of Alpha Phi Omega's College Bowl team are smiling because of the theater and symphony tickets they won after finishing second in the competition, held at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Members of the SIUE team include, from the left, Laura Gruber, captain Kevin Shaffer and Mike Mansini, all from Collinsville, and Gregg Schubert from Granite City. Tom Wilkerson of Granite City is an alternate member of the team.

BAND TOUR. Elementary students enjoy a rare opportunity to walk "through the band" on a visit to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. More than 900 youngsters attended a series of children's concerts presented by the University Band under the direction of Marcia A. La Reau in the Communications Building theater.

Musicians rehearsing include Quad-Cityans

The pre-Christmas whirl of activities has arrived for local area university students.

One of the highlights will occur next Sunday, Dec. 2, when more than 200 voices and musical instruments will be featured in the annual Christmas program presented by the University Chorus, Concert Chorus and Community Choral Society.

Leonard Van Camp, professor of music at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be the conductor for the program, beginning at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in the University Center's Meridian Hall. Theme of this year's concert is "Christmas Through the Ages."

The opening part of the program will feature "Christmas Today," with the University Chorus, a narrator, and instrumental accompaniment presenting "God With Us" by Lloyd Pfausch. The chorus has 35 members.

Narrated by the Rev. Allen Dempsey, the program is highlighted by an ensemble composed of music majors and members of the faculty: Marcia La Reau, trumpet; Reginald Butler, bass; Joan Holder, soprano; Martha Campbell, flute; and Mary Peters, piano.

Christmas motets from the Renaissance will be featured in the second part of the program, presented by the 65-voice Concert Chorus. The series includes "Ave Maria" by Josquin des Pres; "O Magnum Mysterium" by T. Luis De Victoria; and "Hodie Christus natus est" by J. Pieters Sweelinck.

The concluding portion of the concert, titled "A German Romantic Views The Christmas Story," will be sung by the 100-voice Community Choral Society, with singers from 20 communities in Madison-St. Clair counties and St. Louis areas. The featured music will be "The Star of Bethlehem" by Joseph Rheinberger.

Soloists include: Pat Jones and John Gage, both of Collinsville; Corrine Podew, East Alton; Roger Bucknell, Belleville; Kris Kaller, Marion Strohman and Kathryn Clark, all of Edwardsville; and Ron Grames, Florissant, Mo. Piano accompaniment will be played by Carrie Crayton of Fairview Heights.

The program is free and open to the public.

Members of the Community Choral Society include Mathilda York of Madison, Bernice Fague of Mitchell and Granite Cityans Laura Antoff, Lois Bilbey, Cathy Butler, Kay Mullen, Louise Potillo, Kathleen Stacy, Ruth Valencia, Esther Doehle, Carol Farnsworth, Carolyn Jenkins, Jeanne Pieper, Russell Dickerson and Nick Kostoff. The University Chorus includes, from Granite City, Mary Peters, Gail Kendall, Phil Baker, Dave Holder and David Van Syoc.

Novel is powerful

SOPHIE'S CHOICE
By William Styron
(Published by New York: Random House, 1979)

Reviewed by Alvin Sullivan
SIUE Department of English
"Sophie's Choice" is William Styron's first novel in 11 years. It was worth waiting for.

This powerful fifth novel recalls the promise of his first, "Lie Down in Darkness," and affirms his place as a major American author.

Sophie Zawistowska is a Polish Catholic survivor of Auschwitz. After the war, she moves to America—to a rented room in Brooklyn—where she meets two men. One is Nathan, a drug-laced, psychotic Jew; the other is Stingo, Styron's persona, a young writer who becomes Sophie's neighbor.

Through Stingo we learn how Nathan and Sophie became lovers, how Sophie survived Auschwitz. We share his fascination, grotesque at times, with Sophie's past.

The only flaw in the novel is Nathan's characterization. But the novel is, after all, Sophie's story. We enter her consciousness as deeply and thoroughly as we enter any character's in modern fiction. Styron's "High Southern" style—as one critic calls it—has found its metier; as we share Stingo's response to Sophie, we experience more fully and realistically than ever before the holocaust of recent history.

BAC science series probes toxic disposal

What are we going to DO with it? Illinois State Senator Vince DeMuzio will discuss one of the challenges facing Americans — the problem of the disposal of toxic waste materials — in a 7 p.m. meeting on Nov. 28 at Belleville Area College.

"Rapidly increasing technological advances in industry during the last decade have led to a dramatic increase in the production of both chemical and radioactive waste."

"America must find a solution to this problem which is both economically sound for industry and yet protects the environment and health of the people," Sen. DeMuzio says. He has been a leader in developing legislation to help solve this problem.

The Wednesday, Nov. 28, program is one in a series planned by BAC for its first Science Week, Nov. 26-30.

During that time frame, students and anyone else who wants to attend will hear John Vogel, senior scientist with the Illinois State Water Survey, speak on the effects of urban areas on local climates, detailing the effect of the St. Louis-Illinois metropolitan area on surrounding regions.

Dr. Gerald Dittberner will speak on climatic changes and future climate. He is with the Air Force Environmental Technical Application Center. Other speakers will be

Carl Becker, speaking on endangered and rare species of Illinois wildlife; William Iseninger, site interpreter with Cahokia Mounds Museum, discussing the prehistoric periods of this area; and specifically, Cahokia, called one of the most important archaeological sites in the world.

Also, Walter Lyman of Illinois Bell with a lecture and demonstration on use of lasers in telephone communication; and Michael Robach, biologist with Monsanto, discussing recent advances in food preservation.

Each of these speakers will appear at BAC during the day.

Another evening program will be "The Astonishing Neal," who describes himself as a paramentalist. He is an expert in extra-sensory perception, hypnotism, and other psychic phenomena. His BAC appearance will be at 7 p.m. Nov. 26.

Many inquiries have been received concerning the Audubon Society series that was provided by Belleville Area College at one time, according to college officials.

During the Science Week, the Society will provide "Th-Galapagos Islands" by John Wilson, giving visitors the chance to meet the naturalist who made the film, and to share some of his experiences in making the film. That event is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 27, at 7:30 p.m.

Further information concerning times and speakers may be obtained from the public information office at Belleville Area College, 235-2700.

'Send Help' cards to be ready soon

"Send Help" signs, created to cut down on rapes and robberies of motorists, will soon be available in the Quad-City area, through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce crime prevention committee and local service clubs.

The bright red reflective signs are designed to attract attention to a motorist in need of help while being visible enough to make a car "stand out" and discourage would-be robbers and rapists.

Clear instructions printed on the back of each card will inform the motorist in need of help to place the sign sticking out from the driver's door window to remain in the car with the doors locked and windows rolled up and to wait for a policeman or other easily-identified rescuer before accepting help.

The 11 by 8 1/2 inch cards are designed to fold conveniently to fit in most glove compartments or under the driver's seat.

The crime prevention committee, which is printing the cards, is asking all area service clubs to help defray the costs of printing and distributing the cards. Clubs which can aid are being requested to call the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce at 876-6400.

The emblem of each participating club will be printed on the back of the cards, the committee agreed.

Police departments in Illinois and Missouri are reporting good success in reducing rapes and robberies from stranded motorists by using the Send-Help cards.

Details on when the cards are available in his area and where they can be obtained will be announced in the Press-Record in the near future.

Rape prevention workshop topic

Rape has been a top news item in this metropolitan area for the past few months. Although this year has a lower rate of reported rapes, compared to other metropolitan areas, in the country, the threat is still prevalent. Women, area-wide, have been taking precautions for attack but what more can they do?

Self defense is one recourse, but the best method is prevention. According to Public Relations Officer Fred Hoffman of the Granite City Police Department, "We're having fewer attacks this year," in Granite City. Hoffman will be the speaker at the second Community Service Program at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, which is to be held Thursday, Nov. 29 at 7 p.m. in the Ketteler Center Gymnasium.

Rapha Hausman, director of Social Services at SEMC, will introduce the program and speak on the psychological problems victims face long after the attack.

Hoffman will present a film, "Lady Beware," and speak on ways to prevent attack by becoming more aware of surroundings and situations.

A question and answer session will follow the speakers. The program is open to the public. There is no charge. Reservations may be made by calling the SEMC Public Relations Department at 798-3167.

Community Service Programs are offered periodically by St. Elizabeth Medical Center. The most recent program, the Jogging Clinic, was presented in September.

Mrs. Ruby York succumbs

Mrs. Ruby O. (Rhoades) York, 72, formerly 2023 Alton Ave., Madison, died at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Elder Care Nursing Home, Alton. She was a member of Tri-City Tabernacle Church.

Mrs. York was born in Douglas County, Mo., and had resided in the Quad-Cities for 57 years.

Her husband, Ralph York, died in 1964.

Survivors include one son, Lester Freeman, Livingston, Ill.; five daughters, Mrs.

Jerry (Betty) Farrar, Trenton, Ill.; Mrs. Rose Murphy, Granite City; Mrs. Mae Thompson and Mrs. Frances Cox, both of Troy, Ill.; and Mrs. Pearl Ellison, Croyston, Pa.; three sisters, Mrs. Lena Elliott, Ava, Mo.; Mrs. Daisy Strong, Evans, Mo.; and Mrs. Elizabeth Walker, Exeter, Calif.; 23 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

Mrs. Charlotte Tegel dies

Mrs. Charlotte L. Tegel (Brnicie), 69, formerly of Granite City, died at 8:10 a.m. Saturday at Belleville Memorial Hospital, Belleville. She had been a resident of Edwardsville for the past five years.

Mrs. Tegel was born in Madison. She lived in Granite City until moving to Edwardsville five years ago. She formerly operated Charlotte's Beauty Shop in Granite City.

She was a member of the Altar Society at St. Cecilia's Church in Glen Carbon.

Monroe Campbell dies

Monroe F. Campbell, 94, a former resident of Granite City, died at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Carlinville Hospital.

Mr. Campbell was born in Union County, Ill., and formerly was employed at the former Union Starch & Refining Co. where he retired in 1941. His wife, Margaret, died in 1963.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Paul (Claretta) Sronce of Plainview, Ill., and Mrs. Ruby Wallace of Madison. He leaves a son, Delbert Hutton of Grand Chain, Ill.; two sisters, Mrs. Charles (Elizabeth Ella) Morgan of Irvington, Ill., and Mrs. Birdie Cluts of Collinsville, ten grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Schools are told to 'improve or remove'

Performance is the key word in a good school system, but many school officials worry over routine activities rather than the results of their programs, it was contended last week.

Two speakers at the 1979 conference of the Illinois Association of School Boards urged school board members to take a close look at the effectiveness of their teachers' administrators and schools in general.

Meeting in Chicago, 500 school board members and administrators packed meeting rooms to hear presentations by Richard P. Manatt, a nationally-recognized authority on personnel evaluation from Iowa State University, and Fredric H. Genck, a management consultant and school board member in Lake Forest.

Manatt reminded board members that people want to know what they are getting for their tax dollars.

The first step in convincing the public that schools are doing a good job is to evaluate the performance of teachers and administrators regularly and "improve or remove," he said.

Genck showed school officials how to assess results of their own school district management by examining student instruction, public opinion, cost control, teacher performance and other factors.

Taxpayers are revolting, he said, because they see serious defects in the way some schools are managed, and he urged school officials to "go back to the basics in school management."

The talks by Manatt and Genck were two of almost 40 similar sessions on topics ranging from board meetings and collective bargaining to student testing and women in administration.

The major aim of the yearly three-day conference is to better equip local school boards for carrying out their responsibilities. Total attendance was nearly 4,000 members and administrators.

Manatt drew standing-room-only crowds to two sessions on employee evaluation. He described a program that is in operation in school districts across the nation, including several in Illinois.

He rejected the notion that school boards cannot change or improve their schools, but admitted that many districts do not have enough administrators to carry out effective evaluation or have administrators who lack training in how to do it. "As in any other profession or trade, there are non-productive people in schools and it's true they have some legal protections," Manatt said. "But there is no reason for not firing incompetent people."

Effective evaluation, he asserted, makes it possible to "improve or remove the people we pay to educate our children." Genck and Manatt agreed that evaluation and the elements of good management begin with the board of education; boards must evaluate their own performance. And it is the board's ultimate responsibility to see that the schools are well-managed and that the public approves, they contended.

Cathy Leeper becomes Mrs. Victor Reznack

Miss Cathy A. Leeper and Victor V. Reznack exchanged wedding vows in an afternoon ceremony Oct. 20 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

White carnations and greenery adorned the altar as Father Henry Schmidt performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Leeper, 3310 Franklin Ave. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Victor Reznack, 1524 Clark Ave.

Organist Mrs. Donald Repp accompanied Mrs. Terry Land as she sang "Sun-ise, Sunset," "Our Father," "Ave Maria," "For All We Know" and "Song of Ruth."

Blue silk bows decorated the pews as Mr. Leeper escorted his daughter down the aisle. She chose a full length traditional gown of white antique lace.

The dress was fashioned with a high neckline, fitted bodice and full bishop sleeves. The soft A-line skirt swept into a full chapel train. She wore a large-brimmed hat of matching lace traced with seed pearls. Soft silk illusion veiling cascaded down the back.

She carried a bouquet of a variety of white silk flowers with a hint of blue, accented with baby's breath and greenery.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Peter Krieschok. Miss Rebecca Leeper, the bride's sister, and Mrs. Richard Holt, the bride's aunt, were bridesmaids.

They wore gowns of blue tulle pattern chiffon with high standup collars edged with a ruffle. The long full sleeves ended in a self ruffle gathered at the wrist.

The gowns were designed with full bodices gathered to circular yokes. A small blue silk flower was worn in each attendant's hair, and each carried a bouquet of silk flowers in shades of light blue and lavender, with baby's breath and greenery.

Peter Krieschok served as best man. Groomsmen were Richard Reznack, a brother of the groom, and Richard Halvachs. John Mezaros, a brother of the groom, and Richard Holt, an uncle of the bride, seated the guests.

Mrs. Leeper, the bride's mother, chose a luster knit gown with a sweeping skirt and scoop neck. Deep pleats formed the front of the bodice.

The mother of the groom, Mrs. Reznack, wore a blue chiffon dress fashioned with a V-neckline and matching cape.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at Charlie's Restaurant. A reception was held at St. Mary's Parish Center in Madison.

Mrs. John Mezaros, the groom's sister-in-law,

They were identical styled gowns in a wine hue and carried bouquets of pink roses and carnations. Each attendant wore pink roses in her hair.

Stefanie Modrusic was flower girl. She wore a matching dress and carried a basket of pink rose petals. The groom chose Joel Doctor to serve as best man.

Matthew Bellovich, a brother of the bride, Jack Goepfert and Mark Wojcik were groomsmen.

Laird Kelly, an uncle of the bride, and Craig Cholel seated the guests. Douglas Kaiser, a nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bellovich wore a pink gown and matching jacket trimmed in Venice lace. The groom's mother, Mrs. Reznack, wore a rose colored gown with cap sleeves and a matching jacket.

A rehearsal dinner was held at Roustio's Restaurant in Collinsville. Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the American Legion Hall in Granite City.

The bride, a 1978 graduate of Granite City High School South, is employed as an aide at Colonial Haven Nursing Home.

The groom is a 1968 graduate of Althoff Catholic High School and is employed at Illinois Bell Telephone Co. After a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple is residing in Belleville.

Kaiser-Bellovich vows at St. Margaret Mary

Suzanne Bellovich and Steven Kaiser exchanged wedding vows in an afternoon ceremony at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church on Oct. 6.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bellovich, 3033 Maryville Road. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kaiser of Belleville are the parents of the groom.

Father Edward Groesch performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with pink and white roses and carnations. Songs for the ceremony included "Sunrise, Sunset," "We've Only Just Begun," "Ave Maria" and "Off."

Floral motifs of Chantilly lace accented the skirt of the bride's lace and organza A-line gown. The lace Empire bodice was enhanced with seed pearls.

The skirt extended into a chapel train edged with a Chantilly lace and organza ruffle. She wore a walking length veil secured by a Juliet headpiece.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses with greenery.

Maid of honor Carolyn Bellovich, a sister of the bride, wore a berry colored gown with a blouson bodice and full pleated skirt. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink roses.

Bridesmaids were Patricia Kaiser, a sister of the groom, Janet Elmore and Ginny Kelley, an aunt of the bride.

Homemakers District meet held at Hope Lutheran

The Southwest District of Madison County Homemakers Extension district meeting held at Hope Lutheran Church, last week, attracted 53 members representing the Granite City, Trio, Madison-Venice, Creative Women and Isabel Bevier Units.

Madison-Venice Unit received the attendance cup for having the largest number of members registered.

Mrs. Myrtle Hickman presided over the session in the absence of Chairman Helen Miller. Mrs. Frankie Griggs of the Madison-Venice Unit served as secretary.

County Homemakers Extension Association (HEA) week will be observed Feb. 24 to March 1, it was announced. The date was the original time of the founding of HEA in Illinois. To commemorate the event there will be window displays and modes of publicity to introduce more people to the Homemakers Association.

During the meeting two subscriptions to HEA Newsletter were won by Mrs. Arlene Brinkmeyer of the Granite City Unit, and Judy Baker of Creative Women Unit.

Mrs. Lili Adams was named chairman of the nominating committee to select a new chairman and secretary. Installation will be conducted at the May meeting with Mrs. Alma Beckman serving as the installing officer.

Mrs. Leona Cease also was named a committee chairman.

She will head the committee which includes recreation chairmen from each unit who are to select a meeting place for the May session.

Following the business discussions Assistant Home

Advisor Jerry Bowen presented the lesson on "Places to go in Illinois" illustrated by slides of various points of interest in the state.

After the presentation refreshments were served.

Rev. Hall to lead revival

The First Church of God, 204 Pershing Blvd. will have a revival meeting Wednesday, Nov. 28 through Sunday, Dec. 2. The services will begin at 7 p.m.

The Rev. David Hall, pastor of the Ivy Heights Church in Granite City, will be the evangelist. Rev. Hall, formerly from West Frankfort, Ill., graduated from Southern Illinois University-Carbondale with a bachelor's degree in education and a master's degree in special education.

For several years before entering the full time ministry, Rev. Hall was a school administrator for special education over the three counties of Madison, Jersey, and Macoupin. He still supervises the Olympics for special children every year.

Rev. Hall became the pastor of his present congregation nine years ago when the church was averaging 40 in attendance. The church is now averaging 250.

There will be group singing each evening during the revival from visiting churches and from the local church. An invitation is extended to all, according to Rev. Doyle Miller, pastor.

Parents group to hear officer

Granite City juvenile officer Detective Dusan Gargich will speak Wednesday at the meeting of the Parents Without Partners Chapter 470.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at 2524 E. 25th St. All single parents are welcome to attend, according to a group member.

The chapter dance will be held Dec. 6 at the American Legion Hall in Venice, 740 Broadway from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Cost for members is $5. Music will be provided by the Melody Delights it was noted.

Wedding Plans

Engagement and wedding information questionnaires are available at the Press-Record office, 1815 Delmar Ave., and will be mailed upon request. Wedding forms are to be completed and returned to the society department two weeks prior to the wedding.

Bride's photo should accompany information but the story will be held for photo if available within a reasonable time after the wedding. Note: black and white photos are preferred for publication.

FORMER MEMBERS of the Future

Secretaries Association, South High School, discuss hints for success in employment at a meeting of the club held at the high school. Seated from left, Karen Doty, Susan Buente and Susan Prokopich. Standing Lisa Crippen and Cheryl Hutchins Gardner and Becky Sharp and Nancy Moore new FSA members.

Employment hints topic of Future Secretaries

Future Secretaries Association (FSA) members at CCHS-South were enlightened with hints for success in their future careers by a five-member panel of FSA alumni at a monthly meeting held last week at the school.

Those on the panel include June '79 graduates, Karen Doty, secretary to a vice president at Stix Baer & Fuller; Susan Buente, a savings teller in the Bank of America; Lisa Crippen, administrative assistant at Penn Mutual Life Insurance in St. Louis; and Cheryl Hutchins Gardner, a legal secretary in the office of Terry Francis; June '78 graduates Lisa Crippen, administrative assistant at Penn Mutual Life Insurance in St. Louis; and Cheryl Hutchins Gardner, a legal secretary in the firm of Callis and Hartman.

The value of shorthand ability was cited by two, who stated that without their shorthand skills they would not have been accepted for their jobs. Others on the panel definitely recommended Co-op to the students, as well as the office machines class. Another panel member emphasized the value of knowing how to talk properly over the phone, stating "You would not believe how important it is to know how to talk over the phone. You can lose clients or customers if you don't have the proper telephone technique which includes courtesy and getting correct information."

Hints for obtaining a job were also discussed, with panel members stating that they had learned the value of good applications and resumes and being properly prepared for interviews. They stated that in some instances there appeared to be more mature and capable applicants being interviewed for the same position, and they attribute their being hired over other applicants to the well prepared resumes, etc. The Future Secretaries were also cautioned to be able to answer unusual questions such as "What are your goals?" and "What are you looking for in a job?" This type of question will better enable the employer to determine how a prospect will fit into the office atmosphere.

Another idea expressed by one panel member, was that the girls should not be too concerned with the beginning salary. By putting forth the personal touch on the job, an doing extra things for the employer to make his job run more efficiently, the raises will be forthcoming.

Some of the panel members have held more than one job since graduation, and they would not hesitate to change jobs at all if they became unhappy with their present job. They urged the girls to take their time and make sure they will be happy on a job, and not just accept the first one that is offered to them.

In discussing their offices, the panel agreed that they preferred a smaller office where things were more informal. The importance of keeping office matters strictly confidential was stressed by several of the secretaries.

In closing, one of the panel members reported to the group that she has found out that two things stressed by Mrs. Jeanette Holder, business teacher and also FSA faculty advisor, have been of invaluable help to her. The first was the rule to always keep the job on a professional level, and never let things get too personal in the office. The second bit of advice Mrs. Holder gives to her students is that they accept each day at work as a day of challenge.

Vice-President and Program Chairman Christi Dwyer thanked the panel on behalf of the FSA members. FSA President Nancy Ashby distributed membership cards to second-year members, and membership cards and pins to new members. The treasurer's report indicated the organization is on a very sound financial basis.

Mrs. Holder reminded the members that all money was to be turned in from their sales, and additional candy could be picked up from the office by the members if they were paid in full.

President Ashby announced that there will be a meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 18, at 7 p.m. and it will be a Christmas party. Volunteers signed up to bring cookies, cakes, chips, an dips. Others wishing to bring food items may notify Mrs. Holder prior to the meeting. Members were reminded that this is a method of gaining points for the Miss FSA contest. Gifts in the price range of $4 to $5 will be exchanged.

Engagement and wedding information questionnaires are available at the Press-Record office, 1815 Delmar Ave., and will be mailed upon request. Wedding forms are to be completed and returned to the society department two weeks prior to the wedding.

Bride's photo should accompany information but the story will be held for photo if available within a reasonable time after the wedding. Note: black and white photos are preferred for publication.

Future Secretaries Association (FSA) members at CCHS-South were enlightened with hints for success in their future careers by a five-member panel of FSA alumni at a monthly meeting held last week at the school.

Those on the panel include June '79 graduates, Karen Doty, secretary to a vice president at Stix Baer & Fuller; Susan Buente, a savings teller in the Bank of America; Lisa Crippen, administrative assistant at Penn Mutual Life Insurance in St. Louis; and Cheryl Hutchins Gardner, a legal secretary in the office of Terry Francis; June '78 graduates Lisa Crippen, administrative assistant at Penn Mutual Life Insurance in St. Louis; and Cheryl Hutchins Gardner, a legal secretary in the firm of Callis and Hartman.

The value of shorthand ability was cited by two, who stated that without their shorthand skills they would not have been accepted for their jobs. Others on the panel definitely recommended Co-op to the students, as well as the office machines class. Another panel member emphasized the value of knowing how to talk properly over the phone, stating "You would not believe how important it is to know how to talk over the phone. You can lose clients or customers if you don't have the proper telephone technique which includes courtesy and getting correct information."

Hints for obtaining a job were also discussed, with panel members stating that they had learned the value of good applications and resumes and being properly prepared for interviews. They stated that in some instances there appeared to be more mature and capable applicants being interviewed for the same position, and they attribute their being hired over other applicants to the well prepared resumes, etc. The Future Secretaries were also cautioned to be able to answer unusual questions such as "What are your goals?" and "What are you looking for in a job?" This type of question will better enable the employer to determine how a prospect will fit into the office atmosphere.

Another idea expressed by one panel member, was that the girls should not be too concerned with the beginning salary. By putting forth the personal touch on the job, an doing extra things for the employer to make his job run more efficiently, the raises will be forthcoming.

Some of the panel members have held more than one job since graduation, and they would not hesitate to change jobs at all if they became unhappy with their present job. They urged the girls to take their time and make sure they will be happy on a job, and not just accept the first one that is offered to them.

In discussing their offices, the panel agreed that they preferred a smaller office where things were more informal. The importance of keeping office matters strictly confidential was stressed by several of the secretaries.

In closing, one of the panel members reported to the group that she has found out that two things stressed by Mrs. Jeanette Holder, business teacher and also FSA faculty advisor, have been of invaluable help to her. The first was the rule to always keep the job on a professional level, and never let things get too personal in the office. The second bit of advice Mrs. Holder gives to her students is that they accept each day at work as a day of challenge.

Vice-President and Program Chairman Christi Dwyer thanked the panel on behalf of the FSA members. FSA President Nancy Ashby distributed membership cards to second-year members, and membership cards and pins to new members. The treasurer's report indicated the organization is on a very sound financial basis.

Mrs. Holder reminded the members that all money was to be turned in from their sales, and additional candy could be picked up from the office by the members if they were paid in full.

President Ashby announced that there will be a meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 18, at 7 p.m. and it will be a Christmas party. Volunteers signed up to bring cookies, cakes, chips, an dips. Others wishing to bring food items may notify Mrs. Holder prior to the meeting. Members were reminded that this is a method of gaining points for the Miss FSA contest. Gifts in the price range of $4 to $5 will be exchanged.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES HELMER whose wedding took place at St. Elizabeth Roman Catholic Church. The bride is the former Elaine Jo Gavlick, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hall, 2483 Waterman Ave., and the late Walter Gavlick.

Elaine J. Gavlick and James Helmer are wed

Miss Elaine Jo Gavlick and James Helmer were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony, Oct. 26, at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hall, 2483 Waterman Ave., and the late Walter Gavlick.

The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merrit Helmer, reside in Fond Du Lac, Wis. Father Walter Sherry officiated at the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. before an altar decorated with white mums and gladiolus.

For her wedding, the bride selected a Chantilly lace gown with a sweetheart neckline and beaded bodice.

The accordion played skit ended in matching lace and her veil was trimmed with lace and beading. She carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations, orchids and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Donna Robertson and bridesmaids were Jill Conover and Jean Helmer, a sister of the bride.

They wore identically styled gowns of garnet satin with high necklines and full skirts. They carried bouquets of pink, red and white carnations with baby's breath and wore carnations in their hair.

Flower girl Lana McCarl, a cousin of the bride, wore a white lace gown trimmed in garnet velvet. She carried a basket of garnet carnations.

The groom chose Phillip Korch to serve as best man. Groomsman were Mark Sonnentag and Walter Gavlick, a brother of the bride.

Seating the guests were John Rehgas and Timothy Towne. Christopher Petras, a cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Roustio's Restaurant in Collinsville was the setting for the rehearsal dinner. A reception was held following the wedding ceremony at the Round Table Restaurant.

The bride graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in 1976, and was formerly employed as a manager at Wild Pair Shoe Store.

Her husband attended schools in Fond Du Lac and is employed as an electrician for Helmer Electric Co.

The couple is residing in Fond Du Lac after a wedding trip to Milwaukee, Wis.

Hospice program is discussed

Mrs. Mary Ahmad presented an informative discussion on the Hospice program at the meeting of the Nameoki Woman's Club last week. Mrs. Ahmad is a volunteer special worker at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Belleville, and helps with the Hospice program in operation in Granite City.

She said the program was brought to this country from England during the last five years and that there are some 200 groups in operation in various parts of the United States. Dr. Shabbir Saldar and Mrs. Nina Miller head the office in Granite City.

Hostesses Mrs. Harriet Horn, Mrs. Ella Wade, Mrs. Carrie Jansen and Mrs. Mary McCollum served a dessert luncheon to Mrs. Ahmad and to Mesdames Mildred Branding, Harriet Byers, Bernadine Cooley, Muriel Dressel, Ella Mae Harsch, Alma Irwin, Edna Johnson, Maxine Maas, Dorothy McCauley, Pauletta Mueller, Verna Stuart, Irma Taylor and Mary Werner and Miss Hazel Towery.

Mrs. Taylor, president, conducted a business meeting following the program. During the meeting, the club voted to contribute $25 to the Salvation Army Tree of Lights program.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY. Mr. and Mrs. William (Ruth) Houser of Granite City were honored on the occasion of their 25th anniversary at a dinner and reception at the Officer's Club of the Granite City Army Depot. They were married Oct. 24, 1954.

William Housers mark silver anniversary

A cancer researcher who works with the molecular biology of its causes will be the guest speaker Tuesday in the continuing biology seminar series at SIUE.

Dr. Gerald Schochetman, of the Frederick (Md.) Cancer Research Center, will discuss in general terms "The Molecular Biology of Mammary Tumor Viruses."

Schochetman is studying the response of the host's immune system to synthesized tumor virus proteins.

By learning more about how the host can form antibodies — and how they react with the proteins produced by tumors — scientists believe the immune system may offer some help in controlling tumor viruses.

The seminar will meet at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Room 3114 of the Science Building. The session is free and is open to the public.

The couple has owned and operated Houser Auto Parts for 25 years. They have two stores, at 18th Street and Madison Ave., and at 4124 Ponton Road, which opened in 1971.

Mr. Houser is a member of the Tri-City Area Chamber of Commerce and the Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307.

Mrs. Houser is a member of National Secretaries Association, Business and Professional Women, and is treasurer of the Minerva Women's Club. They are members of Nameoki Presbyterian Church.

Approximately 150 people attended the dinner and reception. Relatives of Mrs. Houser sang "The Lord's Prayer" before dinner.

Members of the couple's wedding party present were flower girl Cindy (Todoroff) Mills, who attended the guest book at the reception; Glenn and Dorothy Beck, best man and matron of honor; Joanne (Podner) Leorch, a bridesmaid; and groomsmen Slav Eftimoff, Mrs. Houser's brother, and Vase Eftimoff, Mrs. Houser's cousin.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. Houser's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie (Donna) Lydick and their daughter Candy Polkinghorn of Lorain, Ohio.

Service club meets for dinner

Granite City Junior Service Club met last week at Nameoki Presbyterian Church for a Thanksgiving dinner.

President Gale McFarland presided over the business meeting and Brenda Weckman read the minutes and roll call.

The club authorized sending a school child to an eye doctor for examination and possible fitting for glasses.

Sarah Repp reported on the delivery of Thanksgiving baskets to local families. Donna Polivick gave an account of the Madison County Junior Service Federation meeting.

Hostesses for the Thanksgiving meeting were Faith Holsinger and Rose Ann Bates.

Others attending were Linda Gordon, Janet Warren, Donna Sprankle, Flora Mae Lensing, Pam Reed, Wilma Eddington, Jo Ella Harris, Donna McBride, Betty Nighoshian and Vase Curran, Gail Miosky, Karen Niebur, Janice Staats, Linda Badger, guest Paula Weaver and sponsors Jean Ann Vrenick and Betty Jo Kozier.

CINDY JACKOVICH NAMED CHEERLEADER Cindy Jackovich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jackovich of Granite City, has been chosen as a junior varsity cheerleader at Eureka College in Eureka, Ill.

The squad will be cheering for the junior varsity basketball team this season.

Court ruling can help bring municipal revenue stability

Governmental bodies here and elsewhere in Illinois can look forward to a degree of stability, thanks to Wednesday's Illinois Supreme Court ruling that upholds the constitutionality of the replacement for the corporate personal property tax.

Ordered to end in 1979 by the 1970 Illinois Constitution, the personal tax is being replaced by an increase in the corporate income tax. Now that the court has spoken, financial planning can proceed on a normal basis, with no lapse or overlap between the old and new tax.

The law adds 2.85 percent to the 4 percent corporate income tax until 1981, when the increase will drop to 2.5 percent. It adds 1.5 percent to the tax on partnerships, and 0.8 percent to the tax on capital investments by public utilities.

Rep. Jim McPike of this district, principal sponsor of House Bill 2569, wanted a higher corporate income tax increase than the final version. But he said Friday he is pleased with the court decision, commenting that it "affirms the formula we devised as being a fair and equitable replacement."

The constitution did not pinpoint the type of new tax but said it must be applied to approximately the same sources as the corporate personal tax. Individual's personal property taxes were abolished previously.

McPike added, "The decision also means that schools and local governments will be spared the fiscal agony of either raising taxes drastically or cutting back services to make up for the loss of the tax revenue.

"The replacement tax will raise $520 million for these governments in 1980, more than making up for the lost corporate personal tax and averting the prospect of a massive real estate tax increase."

"A number of taxing districts in Illinois hedged their bets on the Supreme Court's decision by overlevying to make sure they had enough money in case the replacement was struck down. Now that the court has upheld the replacement, many taxpayers could be hit with an unnecessary tax hike. House Bill 2940, which I am co-sponsoring, would allow these officials to correct their mistake and roll back their levies to the appropriate levels."

Some also are urging that the law be amended to put a ceiling on the amount of funds that can be generated by the replacement tax, but in view of inflation it would be a mistake to put an arbitrary dollar limit into the law.

Governor James R. Thompson thinks "it is far too early to worry about caps or anything else in the next session of the legislature," and the approach he has outlined seems reasonable.

"Let's see how the tax works. Let's see what it produces. Let's see what the requirements of local governments are. And let's see how the legislature deals with other plans now pending in the General Assembly for limitations on taxes and spending."

U.S. should use consistent fund policies, not politics

Whether President Jimmy Carter has had a sufficiently aggressive foreign policy is a question that ought not be dealt with in great detail during the Iran embassy crisis. There will be time for it later, when international tension has eased.

Whether the president is too aggressive in seeking re-election is another matter. He is being abrasive and heavy-handed, and has no inherent right to in effect draft all taxpayers into his 1980 political campaign.

One example is the Federal Election Commission decision to subpoena the telephone records of 1,600 New Hampshire workers in a campaign on behalf of presidential contender Sen. Edward Kennedy. Carter partisans allege violations of election laws, and Kennedy backers deny it, asserting that the action by the commission constitutes harassment by the administration.

The basic contention is that it was not a true draft effort in New Hampshire, but instead a portion of a nationally coordinated campaign, in which case the $70,000 expenditure would reduce from $264,000 to $194,000 the amount that can still be spent in that state. Disclosure of the phone records would violate contributors' privacy rights, the motion to quash the subpoenas suggests.

Perhaps such matters require investigation, but there inevitably is going to be fear of government at "gov Brother" when the powers that be turn some of their power against rivals.

An even more blatant example of the federal governmental thumb is the way supposedly objective agencies are spreading tax money around where there have been expressions of support for the re-election effort.

It will be recalled that Mayor Jane Byrne of Chicago joined the Kennedy campaign after initially hinting she would support Pres. Carter. U.S. Transportation Secretary Goldschmidt responded by saying he may withhold his department's discretionary funds, which amounted to $135 million in payments to Chicago last year.

Regardless of how much Chicago eventually receives, the message is clear to mayors across the nation to keep a mighty low profile in the primary competition—or to speak out strongly for Mr. Carter.

We haven't decided yet who to support in the Democratic presidential race, and certainly more issues than this one will need to be weighed.

But we find it repugnant to hear anti-Illinois comments from Mr. Goldschmidt, whose immediate predecessor as Transportation secretary in the Carter cabinet did so much to pull the rug out from under needed Illinois projects.

Surely U.S. departments need to remain impartial and follow consistent ground rules. The political process is not irrelevant, of course, but there have to be some limits on how workers' hard-earned dollars are redistributed by Uncle Sam.

The whole subject could be a major new weapon in elected congressmen's (responsible for about 500 new laws a year) current attempt to curb the powers of non-elected U.S. agencies (10,000 non-voted-on directives yearly, each carrying the force of law).

HO, HO, HO! MERRY CHRISTMAS! is echoed Friday morning through the streets of downtown Granite City as Santa Claus, chauffeured by Andy Economy of Madison, arrives from the North Pole for the holiday season. The old gentleman led a parade from Venice through Madison and on to several stops in the shopping centers along Nameoki Road before going to his cabin at 19th Street and Delmar Avenue. Santa was escorted by Officer Friendly, by a Madison police squad car, by Sgt. Otto the auto and by the Madison Fire Department auto. ## Curbing crimes on buses

"After one month of operation, the Bi-State security program operating aboard buses in East St. Louis and St. Clair County has netted 54 arrests," according to Frank Kavanaugh, security coordinator for the Bi-State Development Agency.

The undercover police surveillance, which began in executive committee of the Health Systems Agency, which will hold an election at its annual board meeting Nov. 29 at 6:30 p.m. at the HSA office, 915 Olive St., 15th floor, St. Louis. Proposed for president is JoAnn Sheffield of St. Clair County.

East St. Louis and St. Clair County on Oct. 20, is patterned after a successful program in St. Louis. Plainclothes officers and sheriff's deputies board the buses at random times and locations each day. The officers have the authority to issue summonses and make arrests.

Most of the arrests in the Illinois program have been for drinking on a public conveyance and possession of marijuana.

Other arrests were for concealed weapons, disorderly conduct and destruction of property. One was a felony charge in another jurisdiction.

After one and a half weeks of operation, the same program in St. Louis County have also been primarily for drinking, smoking and possession of controlled substances.

Kavanaugh said, "Both programs have followed the expected pattern by showing a sharp rise in arrests. It is anticipated that once the public becomes more aware of the police presence on Bi-State buses, the number of incidents will decline."

ARREST ON WARRANT
William E. Blakeburn, 25, of Rural Route One, Box 397, Granite City, was arrested last week on a warrant charging him with unlawful use of a weapon. He was released on $200 cash bond.

South second in Classic

Press-Record

Sports

GRANITE CITY (III.) PRESS-RECORD, Monday, Nov. 26, 1979—19

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

MT. VERNON — It came down to this, if Granite City South could beat East St. Louis Lincoln in what would be each team's final game of the Turkey Classic Basketball Tournament, South would win the championship.

If Lincoln won, no question, they would be champions.

Lincoln avoided any confusion, as it slipped into the tournament crown with a 69-60 win over the Warriors.

For the second time in as many games, South lost agonizingly close contests, first to Kankakee Westview Saturday afternoon, then to Lincoln later that night.

The night before, South won its only game of the tournament with a 69-60 victory over host Mt. Vernon.

Despite losing twice, the Warriors finished second in the tournament. Even though South finished with the same 1-2 record as the other two also-rans, the Warriors clinched second because of their high free throw percentage mark, used to break such ties in round robin affairs.

Lincoln was unbeaten in three games, beating Westview, 79-52 Friday; Mount Vernon, 64-56 Saturday; and South Saturday night.

If Westview could have beaten Mt. Vernon Saturday night after Lincoln had clinched first, it would have finished second. But Mt. Vernon's Rams left the three also-rans with the same 1-2 records with a 83-59 victory.

South was declared second, by virtue of having the best field goal mark of the three.

"We had high hopes of coming down here and winning all three games," South coach Don Deterding said.

But seeing Westview come from far behind to overtake the Warriors in the final second, and then watching as the Warriors battled with Lincoln basket for basket until the final minute had taken some of the luster off what was otherwise a shining South performance in the tournament.

Especially the Westview game. "If we had played against them like we did against Lincoln, we would have won by 15 or 20 points," Deterding said.

The conjecture is hard to deny. Lincoln brought a game of quickness combined with formidable size at the Warriors. Westview was only quick.

"Running teams and quick teams are going to give us trouble," Deterding said.

Although both the Tigers and Warriors seemed weary Saturday night, playing in their third game in less than 24 hours, both had enough energy left for fast-paced, closely-matched game.

The Tigers opened the game quickly and broke to a 12-7 lead. But South was back within a point at the start of the second quarter, 12-11.

The Tigers whipped passes inside and out, but South's Lee Heubner managed to break up many and intercept others.

South stayed close through the period with Jamie Blasingame scoring from outside and Bill Skinner working well inside.

Skinner gave the Warriors a 32-30 halftime lead with short jump shot at the buzzer.

Kayhawks nip GC at wire

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

MT. VERNON — If this was fiction, you'd call it improbable. But this is fact.

Kankakee Westview Kayhawk Al Tate always made the basketball from Granite City South along the sideline.

There are but seven seconds to go in the game.

Tate brings the ball back down the court into the right corner. He passes to teammate Eric Springer under the basket.

Springer shoots, misses, then comes up with the rebound. The clock ticks off one second left. Springer goes up, unmolested and lays the ball off the glass. The ball falls through the net simultaneously with the sounding of the final buzzer.

Granite City South's Warriors lose 48-46.

Sounds like it was made up, and the Warriors wish it had been. Then the reality of seeing a big lead in their second game of the Mt. Vernon Turkey Classic tournament, turn into the preceding scenario wouldn't be there to remind them how quickly things can turn around.

"That was the hardest loss I can ever remember," South coach Don Deterding said. "There have probably been others, but I can't remember any. The thing is we had them. If we just would have done something to stop that kid from shooting, it would have been different."

"Nobody did anything to stop him. We played great defense all the way through the game, except for the last two seconds, then we didn't play any at all."

The Warriors held the Kayhawks to the lowest point total in the entire tournament, at 48 points, except for the 46 points that the Kayhawks allowed them.

Aside from the first quarter, though, it was more a case of the Warriors' futility than the Kayhawks' ability.

With South ahead 17-8 at the end of the first period, a local Mt. Vernon spectator who obviously had little interest in out-of-towners said, "I'm leaving. I can already see how this one's going to turn out."

He was wrong.

In the first quarter, the Warriors made a habit of working the ball inside under the basket, where forward Kevin Green, and center Bill Skinner popped away.

But in the second period that began to change. Green scored South's first two points of the period after two minutes had already expired.

"We started trapping in front," Westview coach Vern

Cougar kickers stun SMU

Malloy, Ebert pace SIUE

Special to
of the Press-Record

DALLAS — If vindication was ever a motive for a team, it was here Sunday for the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer Cougars.

And it came at the right time.

SIUE stunned Southern Methodist University 2-0 here before 6,225 fans on the Mustangs' home field in the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Midwest Regional on goals by Matt Malloy and Don Ebert.

The victory means that SIUE's Cougars (16-2-3) will play San Francisco University (22-2-4) next Saturday (Dec. 1) at Cougar Field on the SIUE campus for the right to advance to the NCAA National Finals in Tampa, Florida.

San Francisco advanced with a 3-2 overtime victory over Santa Clara U. Saturday.

Earlier this season, San Francisco defeated SIUE 3-2 after the Cougars were ahead 2-1 late in the contest. On that same west coast trip by the Cougars, they defeated Santa Clara 2-1 in overtime. The next week, Santa Clara handed SFU its upset loss.

Sunday's victory over SMU for the Cougars was indeed sweet for Coach Bob Guelker's crew. Two weeks ago, the two teams battled to a 1-1 tie at Cougar Field in a game that was marred by fights and the ejection of an SIUE player. Then later, Guelker was notified that his Cougars had been seeded second in the Midwest Regional behind SMU, despite being ranked four notches higher than the Mustangs in the National Rankings.

At the time, SIUE was ranked fourth, while SMU was tied for eighth.

That meant SIUE would have to play a first round game against St. Louis U., while SMU would have a bye in the first round. SIUE beat St. Louis 2-1.

Vindication indeed.

Sunday's game was like two separate ones. The first half was dominated by the Cougars, while the Mustangs controlled most of the action in the second.

Giving evidence, SIUE outshot SMU 8-5 in the first half, but was outshot 15-9 in the second. SIUE had a 5-0 bulge in corner kicks at halftime.

But in the second half, SMU had a 7-2 advantage.

Malloy, SIUE's right winger, scored his goal unassisted at the 21:01 mark of the first half off a throw-in by teammate Pat Malloy near the Mustangs' goal.

The insurance goal for the Cougars came during one of SIUE's rare second half rushes at SMU goalie Randy Phillips. Ebert, on a head-ball, scored off an assist from teammate Bobby Bozad at the 54:08 mark. It came from about 10 yards away.

Cougar goalie Mark Downar didn't have to make a single save in the first half, but was kept busy in the second, stopping seven Mustang

SECOND GOAL. SIUE's Don Ebert (6) heads in the Cougars' second goal of the game yesterday in Dallas as Southern Methodist University's Saied Baghuardani tries vainly to defend. SIUE won the Midwest Regional game over the Mustangs 2-0 and will face San Francisco University at home Next Saturday.

Basketball- Welcome back to Granite City!

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Hold onto your hats, folks! Believe it or not, this season could be a very interesting one for Granite City high school basketball fans.

The Sporting Thing

That's right, ladies and gentlemen, basketball. Remember, that funny game where the ball is bounced with the hands and NOT with the feet. The one where you get two points each time the orange-colored ball goes through that funny-looking little hoop with the net skirt around it.

You remember basketball, it's the one BETWEEN soccer and baseball. Oh yes, you say. It's all coming back to you now. Basketball. Hmmm, isn't that the one WITHOUT penalty kicks? Oh yeah!

Well... basketball is about to emerge upon the scene in Granite City for the coming season. And it looks like things could be interesting.

First, take a look at Granite City South's performance over the weekend in the first Mount Vernon Turkey Classic. Even though the Warriors finished the round-robin affair with a 1-2 record, they still took second place because they had the ranked Indiana University.

Next Saturday's game at Cougar Field against San Francisco is set to begin at 7 p.m. Tickets will go on sale Wednesday at the SIUE University Center Ticket Office located near the Goshen Lounge. They are priced at $2 for adults and $1 for students with proper identification.

You remember basketball, it's the one BETWEEN soccer and baseball. Oh yes, you say. It's all coming back to you now. Basketball. Hmmm, isn't that the one WITHOUT penalty kicks? Oh yeah!

Well... basketball is about to emerge upon the scene in Granite City for the coming season. And it looks like things could be interesting.

But don't think all the excitement is going to be on the south side of town this season. Not on your life.

Granite City North is going to whoop things up too. You see, the Steelers have had a problem the past few seasons of not having what they could call a real home court advantage. They have had to play their home games at South. Well, they've got a home now.

The North gymnasium, albeit a small one, is home to the Steelers now. Through various efforts and donations, they now have bleachers, a remodeled floor and a new scoreboard.

The North gym isn't going to hold a lot of people, but it will do one thing: intimidate the opposition.

The Steelers' home could soon pick up a nickname like "The Snake Pit," or "Death Valley." With close-in quarters and a bunch of screaming Steeler fans in your ear, wouldn't you be a little intimidated?

North isn't going to be too shoddy on the court, either. I can't think of a team anywhere that wouldn't like to have a player like Dennis Page or Mike Robertson on its roster. And North coach Bill Ohlendorf usually comes up with a few interesting twists.

Carbondale, Kahoks to invade Granite

GRANITE CITY — Granite City South's Memorial Gymnasium will be one of eight Illinois Class AA Supersectional sites around the state Tuesday night in the sixth annual Illinois State Girls Volleyball Tournament.

Powers of Collinsville, which won the Edwardsville Sectional last week by ousting Granite South, takes its 29-1 record into the contest against Carbondale, winner of the Salem Sectional and owner of a 32-4 record. Match time is set for 7:30.

The Kahoks of Collinsville are led by hard-hitting Kim Brombolich. They have already defeated Carbondale once this season, in a three-game nail-biter at Carbondale.

Tickets for the contest are priced at $2 for adults and $1 for students with proper identification.

Survivors of the Super Sectional matches will converge at Horton Fieldhouse this weekend, beginning Thursday, for the three-day combined State Tournament. Class A (small school) quarterfinal matches will be played Thursday with semifinals set for Friday night and third place and title matches slated for Saturday afternoon. Class AA (large school) quarterfinals will be played Friday with semifinals set for Saturday morning and the third place and title matches scheduled for Saturday night.

Last year's defending champions Quincy (Notre Dame) and Oak Park-River Forest remain alive, but this year they are both competing in Class A. Schools are classified according to enrollment. Schools with enrollments of 750 or less compete in the Class A series, while schools with enrollments of 751 or more compete in Class AA.

Madison 'Tradition' rolls on

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
MADISON — Basketball at Madison High School is more than a sport, it is tradition. It is a tradition that almost assumes success. At Madison, folks are pretty well sure that when the basketball season rolls around, they will be watching winners.

This year is no exception, only gone from the Trojans are four of the 1978-79 starters who led Madison to the IHSA state tournament last year.

James Heard, Carlyn Jackson, Ken Stanley, and Eric Stanley are all departed, leaving the Trojans with even more of challenge to hurdle than most years. But the Trojans and their coach, Larry Graham are not new to challenges, and most of the time they are more than up to meeting them.

In his 10 years at Madison, Graham has compiled a 194-77 won-lost record. His brand of fast-paced, pressing play has become a standard of Madison basketball.

This year, as always, the Trojans will adopt the Graham methods, and indications are it should serve them as well as ever.

Madison has the speed and quickness necessary in more than one position. Especially strong are the guards, where Ricky Powers, Pat Hatter, and Tyrone Echols will serve.

"What we lack in size, we'll make up in jumping ability, quickness, and rebounding," Graham said.

Graham said the biggest problem for the Trojans this year will probably be their lack of size. The tallest man on the Trojan roster is 6-5 Mark Zarr. But Zarr, a sophomore isn't expected to see more than limited action this year.

Of the Madison regulars, Hatter, at 6-2 is the tallest.

Size shouldn't be all that much of an obstacle however, as proved by last year's Trojans who were successful without possessing a dominating height advantage.

Graham also said inexperience and a lack of physical strength might present the Trojans with problems.

On the hand, Graham has reason for optimism about other potentially positive aspects of this year's squad.

"Four or five players are capable of leading us in scoring," Graham said. "And we could be tough on defense. Hughes is probably our best defensive player."

Graham said the forwards might be questionable on defense and be press.

Another plus for the Trojans is the depth of their bench. Six of the Trojans from last year return this season.

In addition, Graham sees many of his younger players contributing much to the 79-80 team.

Greg Lucas, a senior who didn't letter last season will be expected to see a lot of action this year and Sophomores Zarr and Daryl Baker will be two of those who will be called on to fill in from the bench.

The Trojans have added the Christmas tournament at Columbia and the mid-winter tournament in Dupu this season.

"We desperately need our younger players to come through," Graham said. "We should improve during the season though."

GONE IS ALL-STATE KENNY STANLEY

Friday action...

Triple scoring attack leads South past Rams

MOUNT VERNON — Using strong performances from three starters, the Granite City High School South basketball Warriors got their 1979-80 season off to a roaring start here Friday in the first round of the Mount Vernon Turkey Classic basketball tournament, defeating the host Mount Vernon Rams 68-60.

South never trailed in the contest, even though the Rams did manage to come back in the second half and make it close.

South's scoring attack was led by James Blaslingame and Kevin Greene who each popped in 19 points. Right behind them was 6'3" guard Lee Heubner with 18 points.

As hot as the three Warriors cagers were, however, it was actually at the free throw line where South won the game. The Rams outscored South from the field 50-48. But South made a sizzling 20 out of 27 free throw attempts to ice the victory away. Mount Vernon could manage only 10 out of 23 from the charity stripe.

South started the game off quickly, grabbing an 18-12 lead at the end of the first quarter of play. The Warriors added to their lead in the second period, outscoring Mount Vernon 17-14 in the stanza.

But in the third quarter, South appeared to suffer a slump of sorts, looking tired and being outscored by the Rams 20-14.

South started a much taller team than did Mount Vernon. The Warriors who started were 6'5" center Bill Skinner, 6'3 1/2" Heubner, 6'4" Brent Houston, 6'4" Blaslingame and 6'2" Greene.

Mount Vernon's tallest starter was 6'4" center Steve Ludwig. Two other Rams were over six feet tall, but only at 6'1".

South coach Don Deterding felt his team's experience may have been the deciding factor down the stretch. "Our poise under pressure at the end won it for us," he said. "Mount Vernon is a very physical ball club. They were rough on the boards."

So rough were the shorter Rams, in fact, that they out rebounded the Warriors by four.

But, just as was the case last season for the Warriors, their defense came through. "Our pressure defense killed them," said Deterding. "We met them at half court and smothered them."

South caused 21 Mount Vernon turnovers, while committing only 10 itself.

"They (Mount Vernon) are going to be an excellent club," said Deterding. "They have the talent, but are lacking in experience just a bit. They should make some noise in their conference (The South Seven)."

After the tournament, South has a long layoff until Dec. 7 when the Warriors play at Belleville Althoff in their Gateway East Conference opener.

Two area grid teams bring home state championships

BLOOMINGTON — The Southwestern Illinois area had two representatives in the state prep football finals here Friday and Saturday — and two state champs.

East St. Louis held off Chicago St. Laurence 20-14 Saturday for the Class 5A crown after Mascoutah scored a fourth quarter touchdown for a 7-6 tie game win over Morris Friday night in the Class 3A game.

In Saturday's only other championship final, Wheaton North upset top-ranked LaSalle-Peru 14-6 for the Class 4A championship. Friday, Hampshire won the 1A title over Chenoa 34-8 and Decatur St. Theresa beat Amboy 36-12 for the 2A championship.

In east St. Louis's victory, Flyer quarterback Alvin Jones set a playoff passing record by completing 14 passes for 204 yards. The old record of 13 completions was set by Mark Strimel of Chicago St. Rita in 1978. The previous yardage mark of 135 yards was set the day before by Mascoutah's underkink — Kris Jenner.

East St. Louis scored an 80-yard drive on its first possession. They then made it 14-0 when Jones hit Victor Scott with a 38-yard touchdown pass. The score was 14-7 at halftime because of a touchdown pass from St. Laurence's Ryan to John Kissane good for 31 yards.

St. Laurence actually had a chance to pull the game out when Bob Griffey intercepted a Jones pass on the East St. Louis 43 with 3:45 left in the game. But the Vikings could not move the ball on the Flyers' defense.

Jones made the score 20-7 in the third quarter when he scored from the one yard line. But the extra point attempt failed.

Then St. Laurence drove to the Flyer two, but failed to convert on a fourth down try. But the Vikings came back with a six-yard scoring pass from Ryan to Rick Gregus with 4:44 left in the game.

Flyer coach Robert Shannon said that his team's speed is indeed awesome, but that it takes more. "Everybody talks about our speed," he said. "But you can't put 11 track men on the field. You have to be able to block and tackle."

Mascoutah's Friday victory over Morris was a nail-biter. The tying touchdown and winning pointdown after were scored by the Indians with 6:42 left in the game.

Mascoutah halfback Julius Graham scored on a six-yard run and Tim McMonigle added the crucial extra point to give their team the upset victory over top-ranked Morris.

As the score indicates, the game was a hard-hitting defensive struggle — in spite of the record-setting passing performance by Jenner.

Morris took a 6-0 lead late in the first half when quarterback Bill Button hit halfback Mark Sharp with a 31-yard touchdown pass. The extra point attempt failed.

Mascoutah managed to rally in the second half, driving deep into Morris territory three times. But the Indians could not score.

But then Morris's Sharp turned from hero into goat when he fumbled the ball away to Mascoutah. Indian Don Vaughn recovered on the Morris 29 to set up the winning touchdown.

Mascoutah coach Fre von der Linden alluded to the closeness of the struggle.

"The game tonight was close, tight and hard-pought," he said. "But I thought our defense was able to control their offense pretty well. We were able to run an pass effectively, though."

The East St. Louis win in the 5A game marked the first time in state football playoff history that a team other than one from Chicago has won the title. Both East St. Louis and Mascoutah finished with 12-0 records.

Tom Twellman Steamers' GM

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Steamers have named Tom Twellman the team's general manager, replacing Steven C. Weaver who resigned last week citing personal reasons.

Twellman, 29, a 1974 All-American soccer and baseball player for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville (SIUE), was drafted by the former St. Louis Stars of the National American Soccer League as well as baseball's Houston Astros. He chose a professional career in soccer where he played three years in the Astros organization.

The Steamers have joined the Major Indoor Soccer League (MISL) in its second campaign. The league was introduced to this country last year and quickly became recognized as one of the most exciting sports of all time. Indoor soccer compacts the world's most popular game onto a 200'x85' surface surrounded by check-type wallboards topped by plexiglass. The result is fast-paced action and high scoring games.

Indoor soccer highlights the best of the outdoor game — scoring — because all of the action is in a concentrated area in front of the fans. Using wallboards on the end lines, players are encouraged to bang away at the nets and look for rebounds in front of the goals.

Indoor soccer comes to St. Louis when the Steamers host the Hard Hellcats Friday, Dec. 14 at 7:35 p.m., at the Checkeredome. St. Louis leads on the road with a Dec. 1 match in Cleveland.

Twellman cited the importance of establishing the Steamers as first-class organization.

Fernandez is named new SLU swim coach

ST. LOUIS — St. Louis University Athletic Director Ron Ekker today announced the hiring of John Fernandez as the University's swimming coach. Fernandez's appointment is for one year.

A native of Chicago, Fernandez replaces Don Meier who had resigned during the summer.

Fernandez brings with him an extensive swimming background having been associated with the sport for 18 years in various capacities. Presently Fernandez works with the Tri-Cities Area YMCA in Granite City.

A 1951 graduate of Loyola University, Fernandez is currently a president of medical legal research firm in St. Louis area.

Fernandez and his wife Patricia have three children, Steve (20), Maria (18) and Matthew (12). They reside in Collinsville, Illinois.

ONE ON ONE. Granite City South center Bill Skinner (52) dribbles against Craig Calhoun of Kankakee Westview Saturday afternoon in the second round of the Mount Vernon Turkey Classic Basketball Tournament. Kankakee scored a basket at the buzzer to nip the Warriors 48-46. It was the only second time in the game that South was behind.

Boxing club meets

GRANITE CITY — An organizational meeting was held recently of the Granite City Boxing Club and elected officers.

Joe Kirth was elected chairman. Mercy Mendoza and Joe Becerra were named as head coaches for the club, which will feature boxing lessons and bouts for young men in the Granite City area.

There are 12 experienced coaches within the group, but more are needed. There have been more entries by young people than were expected, but more are welcomed in the age group of 10 and over.

Trojans whip St. Paul

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

MADISON — The schools were the same only the teams had changed.

When the Madison basketball Trojans meet the St. Paul Vikings, you expect a strong rivalry, a noisy gymnasium, and close exciting game.

Last Wednesday, when St. Paul paid its annual season-opening visit to Madison folks got the first two of the three.

The Trojans came away with a 79-53 victory that left St. Paul fans longing for the return of last year's graduated stars.

Not even a 27 minute lighting failure in the Madison gym prevented the Trojans from completely overwhelming the Vikings, especially in the second half.

The Trojans had to overcome two timeouts in their point production, but had little problem otherwise.

Madison was slow to begin. The first quarter was fairly even, as both teams took some time to shake out the kinks.

But near the end of the period, Madison began to apply its pressure defense, and gradually pulled away from the tiring Vikings.

Then, about mid-way through the second quarter, St. Paul received what was probably its best break of the night.

The middle of the court was darkened when the lights overcast suddenly went out. Both teams retired to the lockerrooms to wait for the repair, and there was talk of postponing the contest to a future date.

But the problem was corrected and play finally resumed, only Madison, once again, showed signs of sluggishness.

St. Paul made the most of the Trojan's lapse, pulling to within six points at the half, 35-29.

"I don't know why we had problems getting going," Madison coach Larry Graham said. "When we came back it was nothing that I told them. I guess they just got back together."

As earlier, the Trojans regrouped from the mid-game slump and came roaring back this time to put the outcome of the game to an early resolution.

In the third quarter it was Madison's Morris Hughes who led the Trojan surge. Hughes scored eight of his 13 points in the third quarter.

By the time the period ended, Madison had gone from six points ahead to 20-point leaders. The fourth period began with the Trojans in front 57-37.

"We had trouble scoring early," Graham said. "But in the second half we seemed to loosen up. Hughes and (Darryl) Baker really dominated the second half."

Baker picked up in the fourth period where Hughes left off in the third.

Of his eight points in the game, Baker scored six in the fourth period.

For the largely unproven Trojans, sophomore Baker made a most impressive varsity debut.

"It's always satisfying to win," Graham said. "But for the season opener this was especially satisfying. The play of some of our young guys was really pleasing."

St. Paul was a drastically different team from the one that lost to Madison by two points late last season. Madison, on the other hand, seemed to begin from the point where it ended last year.

Once again, the Trojans shuffled players in and out of the game. Ten Madison players in all entered the game.

Again too, were the multiple high scoring efforts. Three Trojans scored in double figures. Pat Hatter's 16-point performance led the Trojans, followed by Charles Claggett with 15, and Hughes with 13.

South

In the third period the score remained close. Lincoln began to work the ball into the corner where Todd Porter Lincoln's 6-5 sophomore forward was deadly accurate.

Meanwhile, Heubner Vrenick took over that task, continued to add points, but basket holding the Warriors close.

The fourth period began with Tigers ahead 47-46. With 1:18 left, the score was tied at 59. Porter sank

"We didn't think their sophomore (Porter) could go over the top of us like that," Deterding said. "But he did."

Heubner, freed from the duty of bringing the ball down the court when John Vrenick took over that task, continued to add points, but basket holding the Warriors close.

With 1:18 left, the score was tied at 59. Porter sank two free throws to give Lincoln a 61-59 lead.

South had possession of the ball, but was unable to score. Lincoln regained the ball, only to see Blasingame steal it. He was fouled in the process.

Blasingame's first free throw was good, then Lincoln called time out. Blasingame's second shot rolled around, then out of the rim.

Kayhawks

Sloan said. "We put more pressure on, and spread their offense out."

The Westview adjustment was effective. With south-front court men surrounded by Kayhawks, the Warriors were forced to take their chances with longer shots from the outside.

And that's where South was stopped. In the second quarter, the Warriors made a meager three field goals despite shooting 11 times.

"We just didn't put the ball through the hole," Deterding said. "The crosst beat, and our offense was nonexistent. We did not execute."

By the half, the Kayhawks had climbed back into the contest, down then by only eight, 25-17.

Westview continued the pressing defense in the third quarter, and South continued missing its shots.

Again two minutes passed before the Warriors scored. And then two more minutes passed before they scored again.

By that time, Westview had tied the score at 27.

But with a little over two minutes left in the game, South sprang back to life. Green drove to the basket for two points, but was fouled in the process. The subsequent free throw gave South a 32-27 lead.

After that spark, South began to beat the Westview press and work free underneath. By the end of the quarter, South led 36-31.

The Warriors maintained a four to six point lead until about mid-way through the period.

Then it was time for another Westview adjustment. "High school basketball is a game of repetition," Sloan said.

"When they began to beat our zone by crossing low, we switched to man-to-man."

You wouldn't believe it if it was made up.

Notice of Public Meeting

To Review Proposed
208 Work Program
Public notice is hereby given to all interested persons in the Illinois counties of Madison, Monroe and St. Clair that the 208 Areawide Management Coordinating Board will hold a public meeting to review the proposed 208 Work Program for Fiscal Years 1980-81 at 10:00 a.m. on Thursday, January 10, 1980, in the Board Meeting Room, Maryville Village Hall, Donk and Zupark Streets, Maryville, Illinois.

The purpose of said public meeting (pursuant to federal regulation CFR 40, Part 35.137(b)) is to provide an opportunity for public review and comment on the proposed 208 Work Program for federal Fiscal Years 1980-81.

A fact sheet outlining the proposed Work Program and the Board's comments will be available upon request after December 17, 1979, at the Southwestern Illinois Planning Commission offices (203 West Main, Collinsville, Ill. 62234).

All interested parties are invited to attend said public meeting and to state their opinions regarding the proposed Work Program which has been prepared by the Southwestern Illinois Planning Commission under the direction of the Areawide Management Coordinating Board.

Those wishing to state their opinions but unable to attend the meeting, may submit comments in writing prior to 5:00 p.m. on January 10, 1980, to the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, 203 West Main, Collinsville, Ill. 62234.

Attention: Proposed 208 Work Program Comments. No. 50 34 11 26

Resident life coordinator

Joseph L. Horvath of Glen Carbon, a retired lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Air Force, has been named coordinator of resident life at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

He will supervise the resident staff and program staff at Tower Lake housing and the operation of the Commons Building. The appointment is subject to confirmation by the SIU Board of Trustees.

Richard Madison, director of the University Center and resident life, said the newly-created staff position combines the duties of two former appointments under a reorganization plan aimed at economy.

A native of Dayton, Ohio, Horvath earned a bachelor's degree in commerce at Ohio University and a master's degree in management and supervision at Central Michigan University.

While on active duty with the Air Force, Horvath was assigned to SIUE, where he organized and developed the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Unit at the local campus and served as its first commander until 1968. He has 29 years' experience in administration, housing, training and management. Active in scouting, church and civic organizations, Horvath was named "man of the year" for community activities in 1974. He and his wife, Betty, are the parents of eight children.

Latin America pre-conference events Thursday

Several pre-conference activities have been planned for Thursday before the third annual Illinois Conference on Latin American Studies gets under way the following day at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, according to Richard Millett, professor of historical studies.

The events include the film showing of "Simplemente Jenny," a panel discussion on "Women, International Relations and the Media," and a lecture by the news director of Radio Monumental. "Simplemente Jenny," a movie depicting the lives of women in Latin America, is shown at 1:30 p.m. in the Communications Building theater at 1:30 p.m.

The panel discussion concerning women covering the world will be held in Lovejoy Library auditorium at 4 p.m. The session is sponsored by the Office of Continuing Education.

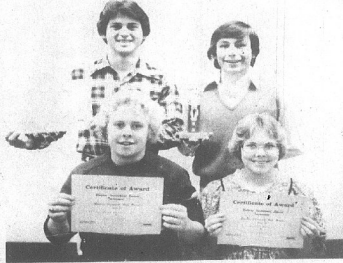

Members of the panel include: Sandy Close, editor of the Pacific News Service and a Vietnam correspondent; Karen DeYoung, chief Latin American correspondent for the Washington Post; Patricia Ellis, electronic journalist for the MacNeil-Lehrer Report (carried on Channel 9 weekdays at 6:30 p.m.); and Mercedes Lynn de Uriarte, an assistant editor of the Los Angeles Times.

Margaret Simon, assistant professor of philosophical studies, will chair the session.

Registration for the women's media session will be $1 for SIUE and area high school students with identification; $2 for faculty, alumni and staff; and $3 for the general public.

That evening, A. Armando Vargas, news director of Radio Monumental and lecturer at the National University of Costa Rica, will give an address on "Contemporary Central America: A Central American View." His lecture is scheduled in the Knights' Room of Plus Memorial Library at 8 p.m.

The third annual Illinois Conference on Latin American Studies will officially get under way at noon Friday.

GCHS NORTH Advanced Speech students hold awards earned at the Waterloo Individual Events Tournament during the weekend.

Mark Belleville, seated on left, took third place in humorous interpretation, and Liza Randall, seated right, was sixth in prose reading. Standing are Bill Broadwater, left, second for verse reading, and Mark Kastelic, first place in extemporaneous speaking. Individual events coach for GCHS North is F. Gordon Mueller.

Jazz concert

The Concert Jazz Band and the Jazz Combo at SIUE will present a concert Monday, Dec. 3, at 8:15 p.m. in the Communications Building theater.

Bret Stamps will direct the bands. Guest soloists will be Mike Karpowicz, Tim Jarden and Henry Miles. Granite City members are Patricia Gerlach, woodwinds, and Steve Johnson, trumpet.

The evening of music will begin with Thad Jones' "Don't Get Sassy," continuing with an arrangement by Stamps of Ray Barretto's "Lucetia the Cat." Craig Boehme, playing the flugel horn, will be the featured soloist in performing a special arrangement of Jim Van Heusen's "A Time for Love" by Bob Meyer. An arrangement of Stanley Turrentine's "Sugar" by Stamps will then be performed by the Concert Jazz Band.

Following intermission, the program will continue with Kaper Washington's "Green Dolphin Street," Stamps' "Peggy's Lament" and Sonny Rollins' "Tenor Madness," all by the Jazz Combo.

Mike Karpowicz, alto flute, will be the soloist for Ron Miller's "Halcyon Days," and the program will conclude with a Stamps arrangement of Randy Brecker's "Rocks" by the Concert Jazz Band.

Open house Dec. 11 at Children's Home

Children's Home and Aid Society of Illinois, a United Way Agency, held a regional meeting at Charlie's Restaurant, with Mel Lytle, president, presiding over the business meeting. Judy Hall, director of the agency, introduced three of the staff. They were Eileen Cartwright, Julie Mayewski and Suzanne Bunker.

Final plans were made for the Agency's Open House to be held Dec. 11 from 2 to 7 p.m., at 1002 College Ave., Alton.

Jill Wieland, of Jerseyville, announced plans have been finalized for the madrigal dinner to be held Dec. 1.

Mrs. Hall reported the agency served 1,112 people in 1978. 1,057 had been served by Oct. 31 of 1979, she added.

Others attending were Joanne Kraus and Bette Rea of Granite City, Dick Mattson, Daisy Fair, Barry Stone, Nevada Stone, Neale Fadden, Marg Rutasek, Helen and Harold Ellerman, Doris and Bob Baker, and Jean Wells, secretary.

Barry Stone of Alton will be the new president, it was announced.

CROSS IS BURNED

A wooden cross covered with white sheets was burned in Wilson Park at a soccer field near 28th and State streets at 9:15 p.m. Thursday and police said "many young men ran away" when officers arrived. None were caught and officials say they know of no reason for the incident. The cross had been leaning against a soccer goal post. The Granite City Fire Department extinguished the fire.

Benefit art auction

The annual SIUE art auction, sponsored by Friends of art for the benefit of the Department of art and Design, will be held on Thursday, Nov. 29, at Moose Hall, Goshen Road, Edwardsville.

Bidding will begin at 7:30 p.m. following a preview of the artworks at 6:30 p.m. The paintings, prints, drawings, fiberworks and ceramics are original art works donated for auction by members of the SIUE art and design faculty, graduate and undergraduate students, visiting artists and teachers, and locally recognized artists.

For variety, those in attendance may also bid on donated services, either social or educational, and an assortment of collectible items. Decorative plants and baked goods will be offered for sale during the evening.

Proceeds from the art auction will enable Friends of art to continue a program of tuition and merit awards to students for exceptional work in art history, art education and studio fine arts.

The Friends also sponsor a successful summer series of art workshops for children, and help plan and organize art-oriented trips to major exhibits in Chicago and the St. Louis area.

Belleville Area College —it's attracting all ages

By KAREN ROBINSON

With enrollments decreasing throughout the country, colleges have been searching for new sources of students. What they have found is a virtually untapped source: the mature student. Records show that the average age of students at Belleville Area College is 27. The right-out-of-high school 18-year-olds are here, too, but for different reasons — close to home, inexpensive, or, "I'm here until my parents figure out what I want to do."

Lucky is the 18-year-old who knows what he or she wants.

Mature students have waited so long, on the other hand, to come back to school and have invested so much time — sometimes years — in considering school, that when the first step is taken nothing, but nothing is going to stand in their way.

According to BAC counselor Dr. Helen McIlwain, that first step in returning to college can be the toughest thing anyone will ever do.

Dr. McIlwain and her colleagues have listed myriads of which they believe keep the mature students away.

They are: (1) all college students are directly out of high school, (2) concerning women — once you leave the work force and stay at home, your brain stops working, (3) there is a greater failure rate among "older" students, and (4) the mature student will not be accepted by the younger students.

These are myths, BAC stresses. As previously stated, many community college students are not right out of high school, and scientific evidence has proved that brain death very rarely occurs, if ever, among housewives.

Statistics show the third theory to be completely untrue. In fact, mature students do much better in school.

They are motivated to make both grades, speak up in class, and get involved in campus activities.

The fourth myth can easily be proved wrong. According to one woman approaching her 50th birthday, "Whether or not you are accepted by the younger students depends largely on whether or not you accept them."

Many times, older students can function as informal counselors for the younger students. And younger students may give students who are parents new ideas for interacting with their offspring.

It's a two-way street. Together, they offer a rich cross-section of people making up a society.

People, it seems, have unrealistic ideas about college. They think you have to be smart. It helps, but sometimes average people have considerable ability to learn, especially in a relaxed atmosphere.

That is why more and more students are choosing community colleges.

This is not to say that community colleges only enroll dull people. In fact, the community college system, which offers a one-on-one exchange between the instructor and student, often is a starting point for many young and older students who might be frightened away from what they see as a cold, solitary university life.

Community college instructors are student oriented; according to an article by Albert Roz in the Community and Junior College Journal.

They know the students by name because of a smaller classroom situation. And, in Roz's estimation, a student-oriented instructor "complains more about his inability to communicate rather than the students' inability to learn."

In a relaxed atmosphere, students can still have anxieties about returning to the educational environment. Men, studies show, have fewer problems adjusting to the college environment than women.

The mature man who returns to education has been socialized and is able to adjust to new surroundings, new people and new challenges.

Of the men questioned, all expressed similar attitudes about returning. Some said they were stuck in dead-end jobs and hoped that learning a new trade would bring them more employment opportunities. Others were encouraged by their employers to return for advancement purposes.

Most said they were receiving veterans' benefits for going to school and this, they said, was perhaps the major factor in their returning to education.

Women, on the other hand, do seem to suffer anxieties when starting their college career, especially if they have been outside the work force for a number of years.

Upon arriving at the school, a woman is thrust into a system of questionnaires, lines, counselors, more questionnaires and more lines.

This can be particularly frightening if the woman is alone and has never experienced the nerve-racking, time-consuming registration crunch. It is even worse when she doesn't have her family's approval.

Very rarely, though, according to the BAC counselors, does a woman have her family against her when she returns.

But to help with the anxieties a woman might face upon her arrival, the counseling center has created a rap-group called "Returning to Education."

This group was formed to help women relate with other women who have had similar experiences in adjusting to college life.

What is surprising, though, is that the first women dedicated to the group and enjoy relating with other women like them; but after the first few weeks, when they become accustomed to the routine of their new schedules, they lose interest in the group.

The counseling center forms the group again at the start of each new semester. However, lasts only until the participants are comfortable with their college life.

Several reasons for coming back to school were offered by women 30 and over at BAC. For many, their children were grown and they needed to fill a void.

Others found housework unfulfilling and decided to start a new career for themselves. Some wanted to simply keep up with "today."

Many wanted to learn new skills or crafts to be used either for fun or profit. But basically, it was a question of economics — more education equals more pay.

Statistics show that nine out of ten women will work outside the home for some period of their lives; at least six out of ten will work full time for three years or more; and four in ten will be heads of families.

Women still do not receive equal pay for equal jobs and the situation is getting worse. Therefore, many women questioned thought that they would set their goals high, i.e., a master's degree or even a Ph.D.

For the time and money invested in their education, they want to receive the highest salary possible.

People today are finding the cost of an education to be quite a burden. However, legislation has been passed making it possible for middle income families to receive financial aid for education.

Many colleges and universities are suggesting that students register for at least six semester hours, or classes (two credit courses) in order to receive financial aid.

Scholarships are available to students of any age who do well in school and need the assistance. Federal and state grants are available to students and there are also loan programs for which students may qualify.

BAC has put its own tuition reduction plan into effect. Area high school valedictorians may now pay only $2 per credit hour for courses, and the very mature student (age 60 and over) may also pay only $2 per credit hour.

Whatever reasons there are for going to school, whether it is for veterans' benefits or for recycling of careers, education today is for everyone.

BEATEN BY TWO

Budgeting secrets— tomorrow

Impossible? Not yet.

Anyone can learn "how to budget during inflation" in a one-day seminar Tuesday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, according to Wilbur Campbell, assistant professor of management, and the seminar leader.

Budgeting is a necessary part of money management and is more important now during inflationary times than ever before, he stresses. He will teach techniques to survive in inflation-recession periods and budget making that considers needs, values and goals.

Topics will include consumer credit, housing, investments and buying of clothing, food, furnishings and appliances.

Campbell, director of vocational education at SIUE, is liaison officer to the Illinois Department of Adult Education. He holds a doctor of education degree from Northern Illinois University and has wide experience in consumer education and related research projects and workshops.

The seminar, sponsored by the SIUE Center for Management Studies, will meet from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. tomorrow in Classroom Building III, Room 3317. Pre-registration fee is $30. Registration at the door is $35.

EXECUTIVE SESSION
The Madison Board of Education held a special meeting Tuesday evening that lasted until 12:30 Wednesday. A local spokesman said there was nothing being released at this time as the discussion centered around personnel and possible personnel changes. The board was in closed executive session.

GRANITE CITY BANK

With the first of the new year coming up it's a good time to start working on that list of resolutions. One that many of us can put near the top is better organization of family financial records.

It would be a good idea to set up a master file in your home for family finances. Nearly everything you need can be put into ten main files. First, your home. If you own your house, include copies of all legal documents pertaining to ownership as well as homeowners insurance policies and property tax records. If you live in an apartment or rented house, put in a copy of your lease agreement. Second file, your automobile(s). Include the title, license receipts, etc. Third file, bank records. Include all bank statements, reconciliations, deposit records, checkbook stubs, and the keys to any safety deposit boxes. Fourth file, health and life insurance. Include copies of the policies, information on how to use them and the name and number of your agent.

This represents one-half the master file. We'll cover the other five major topics next week. You can BANK on it!

CRANE WILL DISCUSS SOVIET ARMS BUILDUP

The Air Force Association's Scott Memorial Chapter will hold a special meeting on the theme "National Defense Issues 1979-80" on Friday, Nov. 30, at Fischer's Restaurant, 2100 W. Main St., Belleville.

U.S. Representative Philip M. Crane (R-Mt. Prospect) will be the speaker. A member of the Scott Memorial AFA Chapter, Crane received his master's and doctorate degrees from Indiana University.

He is a former professor of history at Indiana and Bradley universities. He was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in a special election in November 1969 and has been re-elected in each election thereafter.

Crane is among those seeking the presidential nomination.

The program begins at 11 a.m. with a social hour followed by lunch at noon. The menu will feature a luncheon steak at a cost of $6 per person, including tax and gratuity. Reservations can be made through Chapter President Bob Eisenhart (682-7466) or Vice President Jerry McCabe (277-4766), or by writing to AFA, P.O. Box 147, Scott AFB 62225.

Eisenhart said the defense issues program will become an annual event sponsored by the AFA chapter.

Nutrition poster contest in county

Madison County Regional Superintendent of Schools Harold E. Briggs has announced a poster contest sponsored by the Illinois State Council on Nutrition (ISCN).

Theme of the contest is "Nutrition Awareness—Promoting Good Eating Habits."

The contest is open to students in Grades K-3, 4-6, and 7-8.

Posters must be in the regional superintendent's office by Friday, Feb. 1, 1980.

Statewide winners in each division will be able to bring their parents and teachers to Springfield at the expense of the Illinois State Council on Nutrition, stay overnight, visit with the governor in his office, and meet the representatives and senators from their districts.

Regional winners in each division will receive a certificate from the Illinois State Council on Nutrition. Additional information is available in the regional superintendent of schools' office, 201 Hillsboro Ave., P.O. Box 600, Edwardsville 62025.

FARM LEASING MEET

LOCATION CHANGED

The location of a farm leasing meeting scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 6, at the American Legion Hall in Bartlesville has been changed to the St. Cecilia Parish building in Bartlesville.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Franklin Reits, University of Illinois lease specialist, will be the speaker.

"The meeting will be implemented on a non-partisan basis. The sole purpose is to address what is developing nationally into a bi-partisan, objective look at the current critical SALT II and defense issues."

The program will be followed by a luncheon steak at a cost of $6 per person, including tax and gratuity. Reservations can be made through Chapter President Bob Eisenhart (682-7466) or Vice President Jerry McCabe (277-4766), or by writing to AFA, P.O. Box 147, Scott AFB 62225.

Eisenhart said the defense issues program will become an annual event sponsored by the AFA chapter.

At this point, the United States as a whole is deliberating on two vital issues: (1) Senate ratification of SALT II; and (2) the extent to which this nation will fund the programs to counter the USSR's overwhelmingly threatening arms buildup.

"The outcome of these issues and what the nation decides will affect each American in the near future far beyond anyone's understanding today."

Crane is one of the most knowledgeable men in Congress on the state of U.S. defenses, and his knowledge of the status of our military posture could prove to be enlightening to all. I believe our chapter has a responsibility to present these issues to Illinois residents," Eisenhart said.
